F. M. MERRILL DEAD AT JOHNSTOWN, PA.

Dropped on the Street and Body Was Taken in Charge by Elks—Will be Brought to Lowell

Word was received this morning from Johnstown, Pa., that Frank Marshall Merrill, of 156 Tenth street this city, dropped dead on the street there last night. Deceased was well known in this city where he was in business for many years and was one of the most active fraternity men in this part of the country.

The cause of his death is not known as the telegram received by Secretary Cull of the Elks stated that he dropped dead on the streets of Johnstown and the body was cared for by the local lodge of Elks. Mr. Merrill had been in excellent health and in a letter to his wife that reached here yesterday he was in his usual spirits but complained of the hot weather in that section.

Mr. Frank M. Merrill was born in this city August 24, 1851, and attended the public schools here. After finishing school he went in business with his father, who conducted a stationery store on Merrimack street and later on Central street near the canal bridge. After the death of his father he took up the business alone and remained there until 1900.

During his business career he was very much interested in fraternal and lodge work and was the organizer of several of the Elks lodges in this city including the Elks Ows, Red Men, lodge of Moose and many others. He was one of the three honorary members of the Lowell lodge of Elks, a 33rd degree Mason, and has held the highest offices in both the Royal Arcanum and I. O. O. F. lodges. He also was colonel of the uniform rank of Knights of Pythias.

For the past five years Mr. Merrill has been engaged in organizing the lodge of Ows in different parts of the country and has always met with great success. About six weeks ago he was in this city and stopped at his home on Tenth street and appeared to be in the best of health. While here he visited several of the fraternities and took much interest in the work that is being done.

The news of Mr. Merrill's death was received with much sorrow in this city and the members of his family have the profound sympathy of a host of friends. His body will be sent to this city and it is expected to arrive here tomorrow. The deceased leaves a wife, Jennie M. W., one son, Fred W. of Somerville, and two granddaughters, Mildred Blanche and Helen Louise, also of Somerville. Undertaker Weinbeck sent a dispatch to the Johnstown Elks to have the body shipped here at once.

THE LATE FRANK M. MERRILL

MOTHERS' PENSION ACT

Many Claims Reach the City Hall

NECESSARY FORMS NOT YET RECEIVED

State Will Have Many Claims to Meet—Cities Responsible For Their Own

It was stated today at the office of the board of charities at city hall that eight or nine applications have been made for assistance under the Mothers' Pension act, which went into effect the first of this month. About all of these applicants have been receiving assistance as paupers but under the new law they are not paupers.

It is expected that many more applicants will be made as a great many are now being assisted by the local charity department which will come under the new law. The amount to be paid in these cases will probably be greater than before but the exact increase cannot be determined until after an investigation of every case has been made.

"We have not received the necessary forms as yet," said Clerk Gallagher, today, "and of course we cannot do business until we receive the forms. These forms will have to be filled out and the different cases investigated. The amounts to be paid will be determined by the number of persons to be assisted. To receive aid under the old law every case had to be investigated but under the Mothers' Pension act the cases will have to be investigated in greater detail.

"It is the purpose of the new law to enable the mothers to give their time to their homes and children, and it is contended that this will result in the saving of many future citizens.

"In cases where the persons to be aided have no settlement full amount, the state will pay the full amount, while in cases where persons having settlements in other cities and who are being cared for in Lowell the state will pay one-third while the cities where the ones assisted have settlements will pay two-thirds.

"If a person who has a settlement in this city is being assisted in Lawrence, for instance, this city would pay Lawrence the full amount and the state would reimburse this city one-third. The state board of charities will have full supervision and we are waiting forms and further instructions from the state board."

HERO OF THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD WRECK AND SCENES DEPICTING THE AWFUL DISASTER

Rescuer at New Haven Wreck Says the Roof of One Caved in Under His Weight—Secret Inquest

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 4.—With two policemen on guard at the door, Coroner Ell Mix began in the superior court room today a secret inquest into the wreck on the New Haven road of the Bar Harbor express last Tuesday, with a number of employees of the road and passengers as witnesses.

Although the coroner had announced before the hearing began that none of the witnesses, including Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express, which collided with the Bar Harbor train, would be allowed the benefit of counsel, the statement was made by E. G. Buckland, vice president of the New Haven road and formerly one of its attorneys, that he had been given permission to attend the inquest. This was denied by the coroner.

Mr. Buckland was present in the courthouse before the inquest began for the purpose, he said, of assisting the coroner in procuring the attend-

Machine Dropped Like a Shot at Aviation School

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 4.—First Lieutenant Moss L. Love, signal corps, U. S. A., was instantly killed today when his aeroplane plunged 300 feet to the ground at the army aviation school near here. Shortly before the accident he began to descend from an altitude of approximately 2000 feet. When 300 feet from the ground watchers saw a puff of smoke on the machine and it dropped like a shot.

THOMAS A. EDISON TALKS WITH SUN MAN

Says Horses Will Soon Disappear From Streets—Comments on Lowell's Water Power

"There's something you won't see in the streets fifty years hence," said Thomas A. Edison, the famous inventor, as he pointed to a city team in Central street, this morning. "Those wagons will be run by electricity," he said, "and the work will be done for forty per cent. less than it is costing the city at the present time."

Mr. and Mrs. Edison, Theodore M. and Miss Edison arrived in this city late yesterday afternoon and stopped at the New American House over night. Mr. Edison retired early and newspaper men who sent their cards to his apartments were told that he was tired and that he would see them in the morning.

"I am all bunged up with a cold," he said, as he entered the hotel office at about 8.15 o'clock this morning, "but I am at your service," said this very wonderful man as he took a seat with the reporters.

THAW KISSED BIBLE AND TOOK STAND

Fugitive Claimed He Was Tourist in Canada—The Inquiry Board Will Consider Point

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 4.—For two hours today Harry K. Thaw, fugitive from Matteawan, faced a special board of inquiry seeking to deport him from the Dominion under the immigration act and pressed the point that he had entered Canada as a tourist and as such was not amenable to deportation.

The board agreed to "consider his contention" and at noon adjourned until two o'clock.

Thaw Took Stand

Thaw kissed the Bible and took the stand. He was followed by H. Johnston, a farmer who had driven him over the border and there deserted him, and by Ben Chabou, at whose inn at Barford he stopped at night.

The testimony was taken in secret and only snatches of it was obtained from counsel.

The questioning up to adjournment at noon all bore on the "entering Canada by stealth" clause. Insanity was not touched upon.

Jerome in Waiting

Expecting a quick decision and a dash to the Vermont border with Thaw, William Travers Jerome paced up and down the station platform below the immigration detention room, while the hearing was held, his car ready to start on an instant's notice.

Rumors flew about that Thaw's lawyers were planning a coup by applying for another writ of prohibition but they were impossible of confirmation here.

Rumors of Another Writ

Thaw was represented at the hearing by C. D. White, W. L. Shurtleff and H. R. Frazer. His new chief counsel.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES CASE OF TWO TEACHERS

Required the Attention of the Department

An alarm from box 52 called the fire department to a three tenement block in Austin street where some children playing with matches had caused the fire. The fire was quickly extinguished by the firemen.

About 11.15 this morning the fire apparatus responded to a telephone alarm for a chimney fire in a house owned by the McCarthy heirs and located at the corner of North and Lawrence streets. The flames were soon gotten under control and the damage was slight.

A telephone alarm was sent in about noon, summoning the department to the corner of North and Chestnut streets, but on their arrival no blaze was found and the person who sent in the alarm could not be found.

The Alken street dump again gave the firemen a busy half hour this morning about 9.30 o'clock. No damage.

BURGLAR HOLDS 6 AT GUN POINT

Backed Out of Door After Ransacking House of $900

Overlooked Girl Who Notified Police—Captured After Chase

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Holding before his revolver six women in the house of William Carr, 1183 Bennington street, East Boston, a burglar locked out of the door after ransacking the house and securing $900 worth of jewelry and money yesterday afternoon.

But in the excitement the man overlooked Miss Mary C. Carr, who slipped out a back way while he held the remainder of the family and guests at bay and telephoned to the police.

After a sensational chase through Bennington street and Revere marshes, the burglar was finally rounded up.

The chase was during the robbery of a few equals in this section.

Only by the bravery of the Carr girl, who notified the police, was the dramatic chase of the robber stopped.

Followed across the marsh by two Revere policemen, the robber hid in one of the many ditches which intersect the marsh at that point.

When the officers approached, the robber place the thief would not be seen.

Then he would appear only to bob below again. This game of hide and seek continued until the police, almost baffled by the tactics, changed to see the robber in one of his periodical appearances above the water of the little creek.

He was covered with a revolver and surrendered. The stolen property was recovered.

CHARGE FOR SWITCHING

For Shippers Who Own Side Tracks

Manufacturers and other shippers who own sidetracks in this city and elsewhere, will be interested in the announcement that on and after Sept. 20, they will be open to a new charge of $2 for "switching."

The new assessment will not touch the "small" shippers. He gets his cars from "public" tracks. It will fall only upon the larger shipper whose siding has a capacity of 10 cars, for instance, but who occasionally has 20 or 30 cars in the local railroad yard waiting to be picked up to him.

Heretofore the railroad has held these cars in waiting. The cars have been delivered as soon as the sidings had room for them, without switching charges.

On and after Sept. 20, the Boston & Maine will begin to charge $2 for "switching" to the siding, a private siding, each and every car which has been so held in the yard waiting for room on the side track.

The charge is what is called in railroad circles an "L. C. C." (Inter-state Commerce Commission) tariff. It will be effective at every station on the Boston & Maine system.

Traffic Manager George E. Rix of the Lawrence chamber of commerce, who told about the new tariff yesterday, would not venture an estimate, but it is bound to greatly increase Boston & Maine revenues. The tariff has not yet been made public in this city. Mr. Rix, however, suggested that it is none too soon to bring the proposed charge to the attention of local shippers.

FRIEDMANN PATIENTS

Supt. Barnes Says None Was Cured

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 4.—In preliminary report to the Rhode Island Medical society, Harry Lee Barnes, superintendent of the state sanatorium at Wallum lake, declared that the sufferers from pulmonary tuberculosis treated by Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann last April with his turtle vaccine "have shown none of the wonderful results reported by Dr. Friedmann and others of the Berlin Medical society."

"On the contrary," Dr. Friedmann added, "about 17 per cent. of the cases have shown an increased activity of the disease which would not have been expected under ordinary sanatorium treatment. The permanent good or harm done these patients can only be measured with accuracy from one to three years after the administration of the vaccine."

Dr. Barnes reported that one of the patients with joint tuberculosis had shown marked improvement.

FORMER KING MANUEL MARRIED

Exiled Portugal Monarch Weds Princess Augustine Victoria—Cardinal Netto Officiated

SIGMARINGEN, Germany, Sept. 4.—which accompanied them to the palace. Manuel, former king of Portugal, was married here today to Princess Augustina Victoria, daughter of Prince William of Hohenzollern by Cardinal Netto, former archbishop patriarch of Lisbon, who conducted the religious ceremony and by Count August Lubenberg, grand marshal of the Prussian court, who presided over the civil function.

The religious rites began at half past eleven in the Roman Catholic parish church near the palace. The road along which the bridal party passed from the palace to the church was graced with arches covered with flowers and along both sides were drawn up lines of soldiers and school children.

The little capital of the principality of Hohenzollern had made every effort to render itself attractive for the occasion although it was understood that the marriage was to be celebrated in as quiet a manner as possible, owing to the political situation.

A ship of honor was erected at the railroad station, where all the royal guests were met by military escorts,

At the same time a strict watch was kept on all strangers arriving here because it was thought by the police that an attempt might be made on the life of the former king of Portugal. Nothing, however, in the form of a manifestation against the exiled monarch marred the occasion.

At the church the princesses and princes formed a brilliant group, the varied uniforms of the latter glittering with orders. They were surrounded by many prominent military and civil personages, also in gala costumes.

The impeachment managers opened headquarters yesterday in an old building in Wall street. Today a staff of lawyers were at work on plans for the prosecution. The legal staff already includes Alton B. Parker, Edgar T. Brackett, Eugene Lamb Richards, who is attorney for the investigating committee, Isador Kresel, and Hiram Gross said that others of equal prominence might be added.

Hickey states that it is the intention to send a big delegation of nobles with ladies from Lowell. The Lowell delegation will leave on the 12:15 train for Boston and will take the Worcester electric at Park square. Secretary J. Francis Connors, secretary of the Lowell Trust Co., is in charge of the local arrangements.

ments in conjunction with Grand Monarch Hickey and members will notify the former of their intention to attend. Tomorrow evening the officers will confer on the plans thus far made. Arrangements are also being discussed for an initiation in October, probably in Mechanics Building in Boston.

Foss Surprises Council

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Governor Foss surprised his council yesterday by not sending in his appointments. He has an ex-cise commissioner, a member of the state house commission and several other places.

The friends of Colonel A. P. Langtry of Springfield were surprised at the failure of the governor to place him upon the commission to build the new state house.

Is This Why English Beauties Are So Fair?

(From London Herald)

Ever since the discovery that mercurochrome wax should absorb and remove a soiled complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for toilet creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficial cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying as high as a guinea a jar for "special cream" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercurochrome wax out-ranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all chemist shops in the British Isles. American druggists also have great demand for it in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using it is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning. The soxolite lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered soxolite is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect in erasing wrinkles and improving contour.

LOCKHART'S "MILL-END" SALE

STARTS FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th

We do not want the buying public to measure our business by the wrong rule. We ask them to keep their convictions void of foretaken prejudices until they personally visit this sale this year. We are willing the Lockhart-Mill-End Sale should be judged from its own past history. If it has ever been unjust or unfair to you, condemn it; except an unavoidable error might have crept in, which we will cheerfully correct if you come to us about it at any time. It's unfair to compare us in any way with our many imitators. We are hungry for justice to our business and just as hungry to mete it out to our customers, for where a genuine temple of justice stands, we meet kind looks—kind words—kind acts, and warm handshakes of welcome from our fellow citizens in every section of this world's greatest nation, whom we have learned to love and respect. Without multiplying words about our increased facilities, from both foreign and American mills who supply the immense quantities of merchandise necessary for this great business, we feel we must remind you of the fact that the very foundation stone of this Mill-End structure is laid on the individual character and worth of the merchandise to be sold. Mill-End cost is our basis of price and that vividly portrays to the thoughtful mind the opportunity for all to save. We encourage close scrutiny, then you will realize it's one great fair, exhibiting the newest goods and latest fashions in the whole world, many of which are never seen in a retail store except in this sale. The variety is too extensive to present intelligently; may we not expect every reader to pay us the respect of a personal visit? Do not speculate on your duty, simply do it; the prices given plainly tell you why you should.

PROMISED TO LEAVE HIS WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—In closing its case under the Mann act against F. Drew Caminetti, the government played a trump card. Testimony given by Caminetti to Assistant Atty. Atkinson of Sacramento county on the way back from Reno after the arrest was read as taken down by W. E. Doane, a court reporter. This was an excerpt from the transcript in the possession of the government which the defense vainly sought to have introduced in the Dicks trial.

Doane read the questions and answers from his notes.

"Did you tell Lora Norris that you'd marry her?" Mr. Atkinson asked.

"I believe I did," Caminetti answered.

"I don't want to make any statement," he contradicted in later; but I believe I did," he continued.

"Did you make the promise in good faith?"

"Yes, I did."

"Did you intend to leave your wife and children and marry her?"

"Yes, I did."

Doane (Asked that a clipping from a Sacramento newspaper in which was printed an interview with Caminetti telegraphed from Reno was shown to him on the train. In the interview he was quoted as having said he intended to marry Miss Norris.

"Did you say that, or substantially that?" Mr. Atkinson asked.

"I believe I did," Caminetti answered, "although I didn't intend to be quoted."

YOUNG CLUB GROWING THEIR LUMBER GONE

Fish and Game Association Has 160 Members Two Lowell Men Lost Tonic Stand

The Lowell Fish and Game association met Tuesday night at Odd Fellows building in Middlesex street and fifteen new members were taken into the fold. The organization is only a few months old and has a membership of 160.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. William O. Adams, fish and game commissioner, and his talk was interesting and instructive.

Mr. Adams talks right to the point, calls a spade a spade and is not afraid to criticize even his own department. He admits that there has been more or less "corruption" connected with the fish and game business and he says he is going to try and blow all the hot air out.

The Lowell Fish and Game association has recently become affiliated with the American Game Protective and Propagation association. The objects of this league are to take the activities of sportsmen and lovers of wild life generally into a coordinated national movement for the protection of game; to aid the several states in procuring adequate protective laws and their rigid enforcement and to encourage the propagation of game.

KILLED BY HIS BROTHER

Man Decapitated by Shot From Rifle

CROMWELL, Conn., Sept. 4.—Alvin Anderson, 26, hunting for ducks in a canoe today was accidentally killed by his brother, Emil, 17. Alvin, who had been paddling at the bow fired as a flock of ducks was started but missed. Emil tried for the ducks as they were in flight just ahead. His elevation was low and the brother's head was almost torn from the body.

MATRIMONIAL

POOSER-KENNEDY

Florence Mildred Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Kennedy, was married to Frank C. Poeser of Augusta, Ga., at the home of her parents in Chelmsford Centre. Rev. Charles H. Ellis, pastor of the Central Baptist church, performed the ceremony. The house was most tastefully adorned with flowers and potted plants for the occasion. The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. J. B. Emerson as matron of honor and Miss Alice M. Kennedy as bridesmaid. The bride was charmingly attired in white with veil caught up with lilacs of the valley and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mr. Paul M. Kendrick of Augusta, Ga., was best man. Miss E. L. Parkhurst played the wedding march and the bride was given away by her father. To her attendants the bride gave gold neck chains with pearl pendants, while the groom presented his best man a scarf pin set with pearls. After a reception and luncheon at the house, the happy couple departed on a wedding trip to Gloucester and other points and will reside in Augusta, Ga. They received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of a wide host of friends.

SLIPP-ROUTER

Mr. Kenneth L. Slipp and Miss Eva A. Router were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Router, 24 Fremont street. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Raymond G. Clapp. The bride was beautifully gowned in cream champagne, en train, with veil caught up with lilacs of the valley and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Elsie Gunston was bridesmaid and she wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. The groom's brother, Mr. Carl Slipp, was best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Vera M. Slipp. A reception was held after the wedding, after which the young couple departed on a trip through the Maritime provinces. They received many costly gifts.

Intends to Boost Freight Rates 10 Per Cent

BOARD OF TRADE ORGANIZES TO OPPOSE ADVANCE

Hearing Before Interstate Commerce Commission on September 23, 1913 to Consider the Matter

The Lowell board of trade has received notice to the effect that a hearing will be held before the Interstate Commerce Commission in charge of Commissioner Proctor at the United States court rooms, Boston, Mass., Sept. 23, 1913, at 10 o'clock a.m., to consider the claim of the Boston & Maine railroad that its rates of transportation should be advanced 10 per cent.

There are now before the commissioner two propositions, one to increase the freight rates 5 per cent. in what is known as the official classification territory.

This territory extends from the Atlantic ocean to the Mississippi river and includes Chicago and that territory north of the Ohio river.

The Boston & Maine railroad operating in this territory. The other proposition which affects local shippers is the petition of the Boston & Maine railroad to advance all rates 10 per cent.

Secretary Murphy has sent a copy of the following letter to many shippers and a very desirous of securing information to be presented at this hearing in regard to the opinion of shippers as to whether this advance will injuriously affect the business of New England.

Statements concerning objections to increase should be sent to the secretary or better still shippers should inform themselves as to the merits of the case and be present in person their objections.

This matter will be considered by the transportation committee and it is quite possible that the board will be represented at the hearing.

Letter to local shippers follows:

Dear Sir:—The Interstate commerce commission will hold a hearing on the petition of the Boston & Maine railroad to increase their freight rates 10 per cent. at the United States court rooms, Boston, Mass., Sept. 23, 1913. The board of trade through the transportation committee is very desirous of securing the opinion of the local shippers and consignees in regard to the proposed increase and would appreciate receiving information based on the following inquiries:

A general statement as to whether such an advance of 10 per cent. will injuriously affect your business.

A statement as to the amount of freight received and shipped, basing figures on a period of one month of one year separating the amounts outside of New England.

Any information concerning the local freight rates and classifications.

If possible you should attend the hearing, but if you desire a representative of the board will submit your opinion.

Trusting this matter will receive your consideration, I am, respectfully yours,

John H. Murray, Secretary.

THREATS TO PULL NOSE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A nose pulling contest between John Kirby, former president of the Manufacturers' association and Martin Mulhall, one-time lobbyist, was threatened yesterday before the house. Kirby, who was prevented by Chairman Garrett, "I protest against the man sitting over there and making faces at me," roared Mulhall, interrupting his testimony and pointing at Kirby. "I cannot testify while he sits over there and sticks out his tongue at me. He did the same thing when I appeared before the senate committee."

"If he is a gentleman and will meet me outside squarely I'll pull his nose for him."

Chairman Garrett ordered Kirby to change his seat.

FOSS STRIKE IS ENDED

Strikers Vote to Accept Terms Offered

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The strike of employees of the Sturtevant blower works in Hyde Park, controlled by Gov. Foss was ended last night by the acceptance by the strikers of terms offered them by the management of the works. No details of the agreement were made public.

It was announced that the strike at the Becker railing machine works also controlled by the governor, will continue. Employees of both plants have been out since June 1. They demanded an increase in wages and improved working conditions. About 1200 men and women struck at the Sturtevant works and two hundred at the Becker plant.

172 DOZEN EGGS GONE

Lynn Man Charged With Larceny

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Charged with the larceny of 172 dozen eggs, valued at $28, Edward J. Moran, Jr., aged 25, of Lynn, was arrested today. Moran, is suspected, the police say, of being concerned in a wholesale scheme to steal eggs and poultry from thousands of farming households throughout New England.

For months complaints have been received from farmers that they have been sending shipments of eggs and live and dressed poultry to concerns in this city which promised prompt remittance. In no case was the money forthcoming nor was the receipts of the goods acknowledged.

Alfred Ralph H. Cunningham of Belfast, Me., sent a letter to Supt. of Police William Pierce and the arrest of Moran resulted.

THAW CASE

sel, T. K. Ladham, left town suddenly. This gave basis for the rumors that a writ of prohibition would be sought.

The board, consisting of five members, assembled at 8.15 and immediately sent out for a Bible to swear witnesses.

"It may last half an hour; it may last a week," said Mr. Robertson, one of the members, as he went upstairs.

There was delay in getting the inquiry under way. Thaw becoming impatient stepped close to a window. He had on his straw hat and was smoking a pipe. Four Dominion police blocked the entrance of the stairway. A woman came with flowers for Thaw and was denied admittance.

"Better have your machines ready," boys," said Jerome. "We may soon be in Vermont."

The board went into session at 9.55. The public and press representatives not being admitted.

Thaw Tells of Trip

The first person examined was Thaw himself. He was questioned as to his entrance into Canada. Thaw said he got off the train at Rochester and that his objective point was Pittsburgh. He bought several tickets, he said, in view of the fact that his route was uncertain.

He told of hiring two farmers to drive him hither and leaving the train. Thaw was sworn before the board.

The board produced its credentials before formally going into session. Showing that it had been authorized by the acting minister of the interior, C. J. Doherty, to deal summarily with the case.

The foregoing information was obtained from W. L. Shortt, one of the Thaw lawyers who came down stairs a moment during a lull in the proceedings.

The examination was conducted by Robertson. In more detail Thaw explained how he had bought a ticket to Beecher Falls, Vt., the last station on the Maine Central. Learning there that the train went no farther, he began the overland trip by buggy, which ended with his arrest at Barford.

Frightened by Thaw

H. Johnston, a farmer who drove Thaw across the line followed Thaw on the stage. He said they drove toward the border in the direction of Fayetteville. A hundred feet from the line they turned back, he said, and made their way toward Canaan, Vt. Finally they crossed the border at Johnston's line crossing. Johnston added that as they went through that place the low cautious tone of Thaw's voice frightened him and he refused to go any further.

Thaw and his companions, among them Roger Thompson, alighted and went to the house of Octave Nadeau. Nadeau agreed to drive them to the jail at Barford, owned by Ben Cadieux. Cadieux followed Johnston on the stand.

At noon the hearing was adjourned until two o'clock.

The adjournment came after Thaw himself had brought up the point that his case came under what is known as the tourists' laws in the immigration act. He claimed he was a tourist passing through Canada and that under section two, paragraph four, of the act he was exempt from molestation.

The board said it would take the point raised by Thaw under consideration and would render a decision in the matter when it reconvened.

REFUSED TO GRANT THAW'S LAWYER WRIT OF PROHIBITION

COATICOOK, Sept. 4.—Counsel for New York state announced this afternoon that Judge Hutchinson at Sherbrooke had refused to grant Ladham's writ of prohibition. Ladham's lawyers had admitted that this was true.

THAW SLEPT WELL LAST NIGHT AND WAS UP AT 7 O'CLOCK TODAY

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 4.—Harry K. Thaw slept well last night notwithstanding reports of a nervous collapse, and was up before seven o'clock this morning ready to appear before a special board of inquiry authorized under the Dominion's drastic immigration law to order him deported should it find him insane or an inmate of an institution for the insane within five years of the time he entered Canada or that he crossed the border by stealth.

Thaw Under Guard

The scene of the secret hearing was a tiny office just off the immigration detention room where Thaw spent the night under guard. E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration, was to be presiding officer, assisted by Inspectors Reynolds, Williams and Garneau. Two physicians, Drs. Gaud and Beauchamp, were on hand to examine the prisoner and Dr. Raymond Kieb, superintendent of the Maternan asylum for the criminal insane from which Thaw escaped more than two weeks ago was held in readiness to testify as to Thaw's commitment and confinement there as the insane player of Stanford White.

It was only five miles from here at Barford that Thaw was first arrested after his entrance in Canada. His captors, prompted by Sheriff Kelsok of Colebrook, N. H., was John Bodreau, Coaticook chief of police, the man whose application for a writ of habeas corpus cast Thaw out of jail and into the hands of the immigration officers at Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon.

Lawyers in Conference

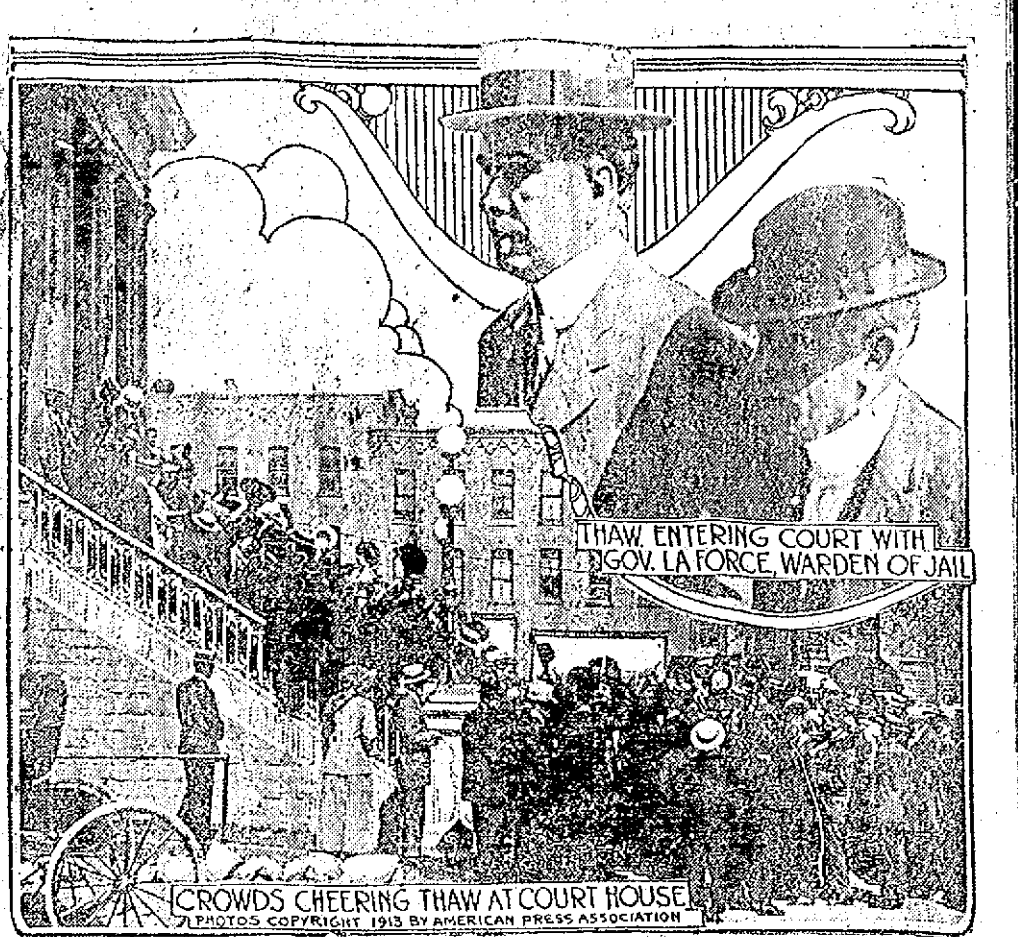

Thaw's lawyers, somewhat demoralized after yesterday's rapid developments, spent the night in conference. All were pessimistic and gave it as their opinion that an attempt was being made to railroad their client across the line. In the unexplained absence of J. N. Greenshields of Montreal, recognized as chief counsel, N. K. Ladham of Montreal assumed the head of the Thaw forces.

Thaw was indignant this morning when he learned that reports of his breaking down under the strain had been circulated. Although no reports were allowed to see him he sent this word down by a guard, declaring that he had received word from his mother, saying she was on her way here in response to his appeal.

Jerome Hiss the Goods

William Travers Jerome said he would not come to the hearing today, unless it was necessary. He has with him the almost unmentionable Thaw trial exhibits, together with transcripts of Thaw's erratic testimony at the habeas corpus proceedings in New York. If called on he was ready to submit these as evidence that Thaw is not a sane man, or, if sane, then not a man who should be allowed to enter the Dominion.

Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county, New York, who waited more than a week in vain in Sherbrooke, has been wired to join the New York party here preparatory to the seizure of Thaw on American soil. If present plans do not miscarry, Thaw will set foot in the United States again not far from Norton Mills, Vt., about nine miles from here.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED FELL THROUGH BRIDGE

Charged With Breaking Autoists Killed - Drawbridge Was Open

Fred Boucher, aged 15, and Valmore Tremblay, aged 17 years, were arrested last night by Officers O'Neill and Considine while attempting to break into the pool room of George Lanot at 400 Merrimack street.

Officer O'Neill was walking down Merrimack street last night about 12 o'clock when he saw the two young fellows hanging around the pool room. The officer, who was on the early morning shift was on his way to the station dressed in plain clothes and was not recognized as an officer by the boys. Both youngsters climbed the fence that separates the alley alongside of the pool room from the school yard and vaulted into the alley.

The officer followed the boys and as Officer Considine appeared on the scene both entered the yard and had little trouble in putting the young fellows under arrest. Upon investigation it was learned that one window had been broken and another had been damaged in an attempt to open it. One of the boys carried a screw driver and the other was equipped with an iron spike and a few other tools.

A pool room in the vicinity of this spot was broken into a week ago and a sum of money and a number of cigars taken. Boucher admitted that he took part in the break, but Tremblay denied having anything to do with it.

The case of the boys was brought up in police court this morning and they were held in $500 bonds.

LONGMONT, Colo., Sept. 4.—Annie Marie Jackson, aged 14, of Denver, was killed and five others were more or less seriously injured early today when an automobile, beyond control by reason of the brakes refusing to work, sped down a steep mountain road near Lyons and was guided into the mountainside to prevent its plunging over a steep embankment. The automobile was carrying 13 persons in its usual trip from Estes park to Boulder.

BOY'S HEART MOVING

Was Run Over by Cart
on July 1

OF BODY

Performed Normal Functions There—
Now Going Back to Its Former Place
—Doctors Amazed

BROCKTON, Sept. 4.—The heart of Henry Dickerman that for the past several weeks has performed its normal functions while occupying an abode in the right side of his chest has begun to move slowly back to the left side, from which it was pushed when the 14-year-old boy was run over by an ash cart on July 1.

When about to be sent forth from the City hospital here yesterday, with the assurance that he was well and able to be about with the other boys of his age, the physicians learned that his heart was changing its position in the right side of his breast and moving slowly to its former place in the left side of the chest.

Having become set in their opinion that the heart had definitely and permanently established itself in the right side, and firmly convinced that it would there continue to perform all its normal functions of service to the body, the physicians were amazed to learn that their calculations were astray and that they would have to begin all over again.

Instead of discharging the boy, the doctors ordered that he be detained at the hospital. He is likely to remain there indefinitely, it is said. During the past few weeks young Dickerman had been playing about the hospital with such youthful spirit and vigor that the doctors thought it well to discharge him. Though his heart was displaced, the physicians thought no harm would come of his release from hospital care and vigilance.

A final examination was made of Dickerman. It was at once discovered that the heart had moved within the past 24 hours to the center of the chest. The boy had made no complaint or suffering any pain. Indeed, he had noticed that a wonderful change was transpiring with his life's most vital function. Whether the heart will seek out its former position in the left chest and there settle permanently is a question none can answer.

The doctors are alarmed at the new turn in the condition of their remarkable case. They will continue their study and observation of the wonderful locomotion of the heart, fearful that fatal consequences may result.

REPUBS. WITH DEMMIES

No Trust Bcgy in the Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—One of the difficulties which threatened the peaceful passage of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill dissolved into thin air yesterday when the senate majority swung solidly into line to defeat an amendment designed to regulate trusts.

By a vote of 55 to 12 the senate rejected a proposal by Senator Kenyon to put aluminum upon the free list. Senator Kenyon and those who joined him in supporting the amendment declared the manufacture of aluminum in the United States was in control of a monopoly, the Aluminum Company of America.

The vote was accepted as a prelude to action upon another amendment proposing to free-list the manufactures of all combinations declared by the courts to be monopolies.

Chairman Simmons of the finance committee announced that it was not the purpose of the majority party to legislate on the trust question at present. He said congress had spent the summer on the tariff and would spend the fall on currency, and promised that when these matters were disposed of trust legislation would be taken up. He prophesied winter would find the legislators still in session.

Senator Simmons spoke after a conference with President Wilson, and it was said "insurgent" democrats had been told President Wilson did not think it was the time for good democrats to go to the aid of the progressive republicans.

The regular republicans voted with the democrats against the amendment. Those who supported it were Brady, Bristow, Calron, Ciapp, Crawford, Jones, La Follette, Norris, Poinsette, Sterling and Works.

Most of the senate's time yesterday was spent on the aluminum schedule, but it was able to pass many paragraphs previously laid aside. The paragraph forbidding the importation of bird plumage except for scientific or educational purposes—desired by the Audubon society—which was debated fiercely in caucus last night, was agreed to without question.

Senator Lodge and Root argued against the proposed 35 per cent duty on works of art in the bill, and Senator Thomas spoke in favor of it. The republicans were beaten on the vote.

Senator La Follette introduced his amendment to the cotton schedule. It proposes changes in practically every paragraph, to make many rates higher and others lower than those proposed in the bill.

TAXING SHORT SALES

Whatever one may think of the wisdom or otherwise of Senator Cummins' proposed tax of ten per cent on all trades where the seller is not in possession of the property sold, all rational and right-minded people will rejoice to see the matter thus officially brought to the attention of the country. So-called "short selling" whether on the New York stock exchange or on cotton produce is one of the worst forms of pernicious speculation in existence.

Senator Cummins made a picturesque and unexaggerated comparison when he declared that the Louisiana lottery was a "pink tea" beside the modern stock exchange, especially in relation to the selling of commodities which the sellers never really owned. There are many preposterous schemes of ready aggrandizement based on the ruin or loss of some luckless dupe, but there is nothing which in principle or effect is more injurious than selling short. All speculation is not essentially vicious; to a certain degree it enters into all buying and selling. It is only when a buyer or seller makes a trade in which one of the mediums exchanged is represented merely by paper that speculation is morally illegal. It is very questionable, however, whether taxing such a form of speculation would be any more legal than the business it would penalize. It certainly would not make it less injurious.

Putting aside the question of the possible advisability or unadvisability of the tax proposed by Senator Cummins temporarily, it is interesting to speculate in thought on the proper way to regulate speculation in fact. Many states have adopted "blue sky" laws that aim at reforming speculative practices that are slight indeed compared with short sales of cotton or any other natural product. These laws are all very good in their way, but while an attractively arranged lying circular can induce a serious minded individual to invest money in enterprises of which he can have no positive knowledge, not all the blue sky laws in the world will save him from the designs of "pirates of commerce." The public must be educated to look into the status of speculators and the reliability of their commodity or proposition before we can see an end of the class of whom, according to Barnum, one is born every minute.

The chief objection to the tax proposed by Senator Cummins is, that it is more a penalty than a tax. The penalty may be deserved, but the indication of it is technically and constitutionally without the sphere of congress. Possibly the effect would be beneficial, but even so, it is purchased at the price of an undoubted constitutional safeguard is a doubtful good. Short selling is a social abuse but it can be satisfactorily controlled or eliminated by state laws whether already in existence or not, into being by the exigencies of situation. Senator Cummins has a right idea but his plan of reform is faulty in principle. Out of it, however, with its resultant discussion and the public realization of the great financial evil of this form of speculation, good must eventually come.

OUR MILLS EXPLOITED

It is too bad, considering its ultimate effect, that the recent speech of Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire in the senate in answer to that of his colleague, Senator Hollis, contained so many portions of the disaster that no one believes is imminent. His dismal partisan forebodings spelled what would have otherwise been a real masterly and which is still rarer, sensible speech. But putting aside sectional considerations most of the people of New England will agree with him when he holds that the mills of Lawrence, Manchester, Lowell and many other cities of this region have been too long and too falsely exploited for political capital.

If the recent strikes in the textile industries of New England have had any positive good, it is in calling the attention of the public to the true conditions that exist in the mills. Formerly to those who worked in other spheres, they were mysteries as dark as the interior of Abyssinia. We walked by their gates; we heard the noise of looms and spindles; we saw the teeming thousands enter their portals in the early morning and return in the evening. Thus they became a symbol of all that is terrible and pitiable in the lives of the poor. We condemned the cupid of the rich and some of us, particularly the politicians, shed crocodile tears around election time, filled with woe at the awful conditions of the textile toiler.

Now, however, all is changed. The recent strikes showed the toiler doing as he is. He is no martyr to industrialism but a shrewd fellow working in the mill as much from choice as necessity, and thinking himself pretty fortunate. Our "Marry Konevsky" and her sisters may not get as much money as we would like to give them, but they are getting more and they are getting far more and are far more happy

IT IS A MORTAR WEIGHING NINE TONS

Lowell Will Have to Pay the Freight—Free Canal Tolls Discussed—Examinations to be Held

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—While acting with the best of intentions, Representative John Rogers yesterday secured for the city of Lowell, his home, in offering to it a mortar from the navy department, through the courtesy of Secretary Daniels.

As the mortar weighs about nine tons and the city will be obliged to pay the bill for its transportation from Portsmouth, N. H., the taxpayers possibly may object. The mortar, however, is regarded as a valuable relic, in that it is the last of its kind in existence, and Mr. Rogers believes it would be a fine acquisition for a city park.

Protest against reference to the international peace tribunal of the question of free tolls for American ships in the Panama canal was received yesterday by members of the Massachusetts delegation from the Federated Irish Societies. TWO HURT IN COLLISION

Knife Wounds Fatal

Accident on State Road at Wilmington

Two men were injured in an automobile collision last night on the State road in Wilmington. The machine was a large auto truck and collided with a telegraph pole in the side of the road near the Sawdust river. The auto is the property of the Peabody Auto Dust Co. and the occupants were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rogers. The car was severely injured about the legs. The accident is said to have been caused by defective steering gear. While the car was proceeding at a rate of less than 20 miles an hour, it skidded to one side of the road, for some reason the driver could not explain. The injured men were taken to the State hospital in Tewksbury, where they received treatment. One of the cuts on Mr. Rogers' leg required several stitches. They left for their homes in Peabody later in the night.

Woman Trifed Hunger Strike in the Lynn Police Station—Held on Slave Charge

LYNN, Sept. 4.—Refusing to eat, and striving to secure her freedom by means of a "hunger strike" like the English suffragettes, Mrs. Mary Coughlin, the 20-year-old East Dedham girl who was taken into custody Sunday by the Lynn police with two young men charged with violating the white slave laws, was yesterday removed from Lynn to the Salem jail.

The young woman has been confined in a cell at the Lynn police station since Sunday. The police men are not very inviting, consisting principally of pilot crackers and coffee, but kind-hearted guardians of the law purchased more delicate food for Mrs. Coughlin who steadfastly refused to take any nourishment.

The Vatican physician has suggested a complete rest. His Holiness, however, is keeping engagements he had made for today and he received in audience Cardinal Ferrari of Milan who headed a body of Milanese pilgrims. The pope afterward appeared before the pilgrims themselves and welcomed them to Rome.

STATE ROAD TO BE OPENED TODAY

Dracut People Rejoice at its Completion—Demand for Fire Protection Resulting From Mahoney Fire

Work is progressing rapidly on the new state road between Lowell and Lawrence, and the contractor in charge, Mr. Wagenbach expects to have the road completed by November 1. If there is no hitch today this portion of the road from the city line to Varnum's landing, will be open to traffic this evening. At the present time vehicles are allowed to go over the road, but there are places where the vehicles have to be driven over the street railway tracks, so as not to interfere with the progress of the work.

GIRLS WHO ARE PALE, NERVOUS

May Find Help in Mrs. Elston's Letter About Her Daughter.

Burlington, Iowa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured my daughter of weakness. She was troubled almost a year with it and complained of backache, so that I thought she would be an invalid. She was entirely run down, pale, nervous and without appetite. I was very much discouraged but heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound through friends and now I praise it because it has cured my daughter."—Mrs. F. M. Elston, R. D. No. 3, Burlington, Iowa.

Case of Another Girl.
Seaton, Minn.—"I used to be bothered with nervous spells, and would cry if anyone was cross to me. I got awful weak spells especially in the morning, and my appetite was poor. I also had a tender place in my right side which pained when I did any hard work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my symptoms all changed, and I am certainly feeling fine. I recommend it to every suffering woman or girl. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Miss Etta Nelson, 171 5th St., Virginia, Minn.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.
Girls who are troubled with painful or regular periods, backache, headache, lagging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

order to push the work another crusher was put in operation this morning on the old Lawrence road near what is known as the nickel mine. The rocks are constantly being crushed and as quick as the crusher can supply the stone it is being hauled on the road and laid as a top dressing. Then a sprinkler spreads the oil and the road is ready to be rolled.

There are two rollers on the job, one near the city line and the other near Homelock street. One rolls the oil surface, while the other is being used for crushing down the gravel. The road, when completed, it is said, will be one of the finest in the state, for it will afford a clear way from the New Hampshire line to the sea. The oil plant, or roller, where the oil and tar are boiled, is situated on a hill in Kenwood, and several men are employed there.

A large piece of work on the construction of this state road is the building of a cement bridge across the brook at Brookside, near McManmon's greenery, but this is progressing rapidly. The wooden forms are being constructed, and already the foundations have been laid. This will be completed in about two weeks, and next week the tracks of the Bay State Street Railway Co. will be removed on the river side of the bridge. However, pending the completion of the bridge vehicles may use the car tracks over the said bridge. The residents of that portion of Dracut are looking for the completion of the road, for it is a hard task for them to drive around the old road, and it is almost impossible for them to get their winter supply of coal. Nevertheless after tonight, all those living along the side of Varnum's landing may use the road.

Fire Protection
Some of the residents of Dracut are protesting against the fire protection they are being given. They are living in Collinsville and along the Merrimack river. They say on account of the poor fire protection they have to pay a much higher insurance rate, and also that their property is constantly in danger of being entirely destroyed by fire. One man in conversation with the writer this morning said a good example of what protection these districts are getting was given a few days ago, when the home of Jeremiah Mahoney in Collinsville was entirely gutted by fire before the department reached the scene of the conflagration.

"In Navy Yard and Dracut Centre," said this party, "the real estate owners are thoroughly protected in case of fire. There is a fire station at the Centre and another in Navy Yard, and in both places there is a good water pressure, while in Collinsville or along the Merrimack there is plenty of water, but no power. I believe with the high tax rate now in Dracut, the taxpayers ought to be better protected."

The conflagration at Mahoney's has been the cause of considerable comment around the village, and now is the time to remedy the situation by organizing a good fire department, and supplying it with apparatus that can prove of some utility. For instance many recommend the purchase of a combination steamer and hose motor drawn, an apparatus which in less than a few minutes could be taken to any part of the town.

"At Belle Grove there is plenty of water, but not the least power to make use of it. If a fire were to break out in that vicinity the entire district would be gutted before the present department would reach the premises, while lives are also endangered."

One party said if the town cannot afford the purchase of motor fire apparatus, some arrangements ought to be made with the Lowell fire department so that in case of a big fire in the town help of some sort would be supplied. "When the Lowell department was composed of horse-drawn vehicles only," continued this party, "the department would come to Dracut when needed, but now it only goes as far as the city line. In those days, too, if the Lowell department rendered the town any service, a certain sum of money was always voted for the department by the town. It is now up to the selectmen to either supply the town with a competent fire department, or make some arrangements with the Lowell department, for we want to be protected in case of fire."

Camp Season
The camp season along the banks of the Merrimack river is practically coming to a close, and already several families have vacated their summer homes. However, there is still a large number of summer residents in the town and some will remain until the latter part of this month. Several of the workmen on the state road are occupying the camps and they will remain until the work is finished.

To High School
The following youngsters from Kenwood will enter the Lowell high school at the opening of the fall term. They are all graduates from the Kenwood school. Alice McManmon, Adelle White, Beatrice Gore, Ruth Dickiey, Homer Jubinville, Laura Tibbets, Venia Tibbets, Almsworth Isherwood, Florence Delaney.

Jack of All Trades
Constable Foye of Dracut has been nicknamed the Jack of all trades of the vicinity, for outside of being a farmer, a pork raiser, and a peace maker, the local policeman of the neighboring town, has gone into the ice business, and he is making a hit at his new line of work.

The ice supply at Belle Grove gave out in the early part of August, and a petition was sent to the Daniel Page Co. to have a wagon go around the district twice a week, but on account of the long distance, as all vehicles were forced to go by the old Lawrence road, the petition was ignored. However, Constable Foye, who has great love for his neighbors, made up his mind to relieve the condition by becoming an ice man, and his idea was well received by the many residents of the district. So for the past two months the Dracut constable has been delivering ice to his neighbors twice a week, and he is the most welcomed man in the vicinity.

This morning that the brave and kind police officer will be remembered by his neighbors before the season is over, and it is probable they will present him a pair of silver tongs, and also a gold revolver, but this is not official.

Road Commissioners
The road commissioners of the town were petitioned some time ago for the acceptance of what is known as Varnum avenue, in Dracut, but after taking a peep at the avenue, they came to the conclusion that the lane was not in a condition to be accepted by the town, inasmuch as it is private land, so the matter will be brought before the voters at the coming town meeting.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
With increasing patronage daily, the motion picture shows at the popular Opera House proceed merrily on their way. Today offers the last opportunity to see that great Pathe drama, "The Turning Point," as, following the customary rule, tomorrow witnesses an entire change of bill. The big feature for the last of the week will be the great drama, "The House of Mystery." Words are inadequate to portray this marvelous work of photography. During the course of action the audience is carried in the ethereal and becomes a neighbor of all the great planets. From this lofty planet one becomes thrown into the deepest, cavernous bottomless pits. This truly wonderful picture must be seen to be appreciated. The charming sentimental songs underlined for this same period, rendered by our well known soloist, Bernard Horan, are noteworthy, consisting of "When It's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," and "As Long as the Shamrock Grows Green."

As has been pointed out repeatedly of most gratifying import to the management is the large attendance embracing Lowell's most representative people.

Merrimack Square
In Augustus Thomas' "Arizona," which is the current attraction being presented at the Merrimack square, the play offers unusual opportunities to the members of the company to display that artistic skill which appeals so strongly to all and has since stock John C. Bowker, R. C. S. lectures, who are students. Possessed of wonderful powers of observation, of a quick mind, a ready wit and ability to get at the root of things, he makes the ideal platform speaker. His addresses will be illustrated with beautiful hand colored photographic views.

Wherever Dr. Bowker goes he selects his subjects with care. He has his own special photographer. His evening lecture will be on the celebration of Passion Play at Oberammergau, which is held but once in every decade by the devout peasants of the Bavarian town. Afterwards he will speak on Mexico, and will tell something of Gen. Felix Diaz who will, at the coming election, contend for the position of president. The charge for admission to these lectures is 15 and 25 cents, with children admitted for ten cents.

Keith's Theatre
The mystifier, at the B. Y. Keith theatre, this week, carries an entire carload of specially constructed traps, and with which he will make audiences take a lot of notice and do a lot of wondering. Tom Nawn, the comedian, and his company drive away with "The College Coach" while the Great Howard, the Scotch ventriloquist, may be depended upon to give good entertainment. Other acts include Will and Douglas, talking acts, and a variety of other acts. Seats for all performances at the box office, phone number 22.

The Casino
Dancing is always popular at the Casino, where one finds ideal conditions prevailing for selections from the "Kasino Standard" means precisely today what it meant when the place was opened over a year ago. Absolute decorum from patrons and every courtesy from attendants. That is what "Kasino Standard" means.

F. AM. FORESTERS REELECT GUILLET

Lowell Man Is Again Made Supreme Chief Ranger

F. X. Rivet Is Supreme Sentinel for the Ensuing Term

F. X. RIVET, Supreme Sentinel

HOLYOKE, Sept. 4.—The National convention of the Franco-American Foresters closed here yesterday afternoon.

The following officers, elected yesterday, were installed with a public ceremony at the city hall this evening: J. H. Guillet of Lowell, supreme chief; Dr. A. J. Quessy of Fitchburg, supreme subchief; M. Desrosiers of Woonsocket, supreme treasurer; Wilfred J. Mathieu of Woonsocket, financial secretary; Joseph Rousseau of Nashua, N. H., first supreme warden; Dr. J. P. Bouvier of White Plains, N. Y., second supreme warden; C. J. Lemmonier, first supreme guard; C. J. Boudreau of Biddeford, Me., second supreme guard; Edouard Tetreault of Plainfield, Conn., first supreme sentinel; F. X. Rivet of Lowell, second supreme sentinel; A. J. B. Carlier of Fall River, second supreme warden; A. V. Baze of Holyoke, first supreme secretary; H. Robert of Fitchburg, N. H., supreme dealer; Chourignoy of Gardner, ex-supreme chief.

On the previous day Supreme Chief Guillet read his report, showing the order to be in a flourishing condition both financially and in the point of numbers. Since the last convention in New Bedford in 1911, 15 courts have been organized, bringing the total number up to 75 at the present time. A number of minor committees were appointed to submit reports at the afternoon session.

Numerous telegrams were received from various French societies, expressing good wishes, and these were read. Much pleasure was caused by a telegram received from the Canadian association now in session in Manchester, N. H. The local court immediately forwarded a telegram expressing its good will and wishes for the success and prosperity of the work being done by the Franco-American association.

The most important business transacted at the afternoon session was the change in the bylaws by which it was decided to admit members from the age of 16 years up, instead of 18 as formerly. The reports of minor committees were received and routine business transacted. The evening session was devoted to the consideration of several amendments to the constitution.

Atty. Adelard Archambault of Woonsocket, R. I., was present at the afternoon session and delivered a short address. Atty. Archambault is a member of Court Lafontaine of Woonsocket, the first court organized. A letter was received from Rev. P. L. Lamoine of Lowell spiritual director, expressing his regrets at not being able to be present, because of illness.

INQUEST INTO WRECK

Continued

ance of the railroad employees.

Lawyers Barred

"I have been given permission by the coroner to attend the inquest," he said. "I do not see anything improper about it. My sole purpose in appearing here is to be of assistance to the coroner in bringing witnesses here as they are wanted. I may not attend, however."

Mr. Buckland then sought the coroner, after which he announced he would not attend the inquest. He then returned to the New Haven offices and a minor official took his place outside the door of the courtroom.

The coroner issued orders to the police not to allow any of the witnesses to be approached by newspapermen within the building. The first witness called, William F. Clarkson, a resident of New Haven, who was early on the scene of the disaster, frankly told what he had testified to upon leaving the building. He said he was on a local train which reached the scene of the wreck within four or five minutes, he thought, after it had occurred.

Questioned About Signals

The coroner questioned me particularly about the signals, said Clarkson, "and the position of the train. I told him that the rear of the Bar Harbor express was within one hundred feet of the 'hazard' signal. This signal I did not notice until nearly an hour after I arrived, as was charged in the work book. At that time I was sitting at red. I described the position of the wreck. He asked me about the cars and I told him that the wood of which the Pullmans was constructed appeared to be rotten. I saw a woman's body on top of one of the vestibules and climbed up there to get it down. The wooden roof caved in with my weight, dropping me with the woman's body six feet into the wreckage."

For Was Thick

"I testified further that the fog was so thick that it was impossible to see more than 100 feet."

The coroner wanted to know whether I had heard the train crew say anything as to how the wreck occurred. I could tell him nothing except that I had heard some one say that the brakes of the Bar Harbor train did not work well and that this had caused it to come to a stop just beyond the block."

Clarkson showed a gouged face, the result, he said, of his fall through the top of the vestibule.

Shortly before the inquest began Copner Mix announced that if it was decided to hold Engineer Miller and Flagman Murray of the Bar Harbor, both of whom have been in jail since Tuesday night he would accept bonds for their release.

That premature publication of these facts might prejudice the state's case and the interest of justice was the reason given by the coroner this morning for holding the inquest in secret. He reiterated that such procedure had been his practice in criminal cases during his 18 years' tenure of office and that the law upheld him.

Coroner Replies to Critics

"I feel that I am doing my duty," he said, "despite the criticism to which I have been subjected."

H. W. Belknap, chief inspector of the interstate commerce commission, which will begin a public inquiry here into the causes of the wreck tomorrow and C. C. Delwell, chief engineer of the Connecticut public utilities commission were the only persons other than the witnesses and the state's attorney and necessary assistants present when the coroner's inquest began.

Important Witnesses Heard

A. B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express, which crashed into the Bar Harbor train, and Flagman Murray of the doomed express, the most important witnesses, were among the first called. Both had been locked up since Tuesday night without bail, chiefly for the reason, it is said, that the coroner wished to make certain that neither talked about the case for publication until after testifying. The coroner, it is understood this morning, was ready to accept bail for them as soon as they had told their stories.

Ship Bodies to Homes

The condition of five of the injured who were last night hovering between life and death was described by the hospital surgeons this morning as still critical. All but two of the bodies of those killed have been shipped to their homes.

Commissioner McChord of the interstate commerce commission, who will preside at the body investigation instituted by that body, is expected to reach here tonight. Inspector Belknap and his corps of four assistants planned to continue today their examination of the data furnished them by the railroad showing the operations of trains on the morning of the catastrophe.

After Coroner Mix had made ready to begin his hearing he found accommodations in his office so cramped that he decided to go to the superior court. The witnesses went over there and had plenty of room in the offices connected with the court room of the criminal side of the superior court.

Counsel Not Admitted

E. C. Terry, an attorney, and former railroad man, who served the railroad organizations as legislative agent at the capitol during two sessions of the general assembly, was engaged by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to look after the interests of Engineer Miller. Mr. Terry said he would endeavor to have Engineer Miller represented by counsel during the coroner's inquest. He did not state what process he would resort to. Many times in the past lawyers who have represented persons whose criminal acts have been under scrutiny by the coroner have tried to get into an inquest, but none succeeded.

Coroner Mix was asked just before he opened his probe if he would permit counsel for Engineer Miller to attend and he replied:

"Counsel will not be admitted."

BURGLAR HOLDS 6 AT GUN POINT

Backed Out of Door After Ransacking House of $900

Overlooked Girl Who Notified Police—Captured After Chase

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Holding before his revolver six women in the house of William Carr, 1183 Dennington street, East Boston, a burglar backed out of the door, after ransacking the house and securing $900 worth of jewelry and money yesterday afternoon.

But in the excitement, the man overlooked Miss Mary C. Carr, who slipped out a back way while he held the remainder of the family and guests at bay and telephoned to the police.

After a sensational chase through the East Boston and Revere marshes,
the burglar was finally rounded up.

For coolness and daring the robbery
has had few equals in this section.
Only for the bravery of the Carr girl,
the thief would have escaped. His capture equaled in its dramatic phases the robbery itself.

Followed across the marsh by two Revere policemen, the robber hid in one of the many ditches which intersect the land at that point. Whenever he heard the officers approaching his hiding place the thief would bob beneath the water and remain until he needed air.
Then he would appear only to bob below again. This game of hide and seek continued until one of the policemen, almost baffled by the tactics, chanced to see the robber in one of his periodical appearances above the water of the little creek. He was covered with a revolver and surrendered.
The stolen property was recovered.

This Will Soon Banish All Objectionable Hairs

(Modes of Today)
Beauty specialists have discovered
a new and simple method of ridding the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz and invariably but one application is required to obtain the desired results.
A paste is made with powdered delatone and water and applied for 2 minutes to the hairy surface, then rubbed off and the skin washed and dried.
This treatment removes every trace of hair and leaves the skin firm and smooth. Disappointment will be avered if you buy the delatone in an original package.

CHARGE FOR SWITCHING For Shippers Who Own Side Tracks

Manufacturers and other shippers who possess sidetracks in this city and elsewhere will be interested in the announcement that on and after Sept. 20 they will be open to a new charge of $2 for "switching."

The new assessment will not touch the "small" shipper. He gets his cars from "public" tracks. It will fall only upon the larger shipper whose siding
has a capacity of 10 cars, for instance,
but who occasionally has 20 or 30 cars in the local railroad yard waiting to be kicked in to him.

Heretofore the railroad has held these cars in waiting. The cars have been delivered as soon as the consignee has had room for them, without switching charges.

On and after Sept. 20, the Boston & Maine will begin to charge $2 for "switching" to the siding, a private siding, each and every car which has been so held in the yard waiting for room on the side track.

The charge is what is called in railroad circles an "I. C. C." (Interstate Commerce Commission) tariff. It will be effective at every station on the Boston & Maine system.

Traffic Manager George E. Rix of
the Lawrence chamber of commerce,
who told about the new tariff yesterday, would not venture an estimate,
but said it is bound to greatly increase Boston & Maine revenues. The tariff has not yet been made public in this city. Mr. Rix, however, suggested that it is none too soon to bring the proposed charge to the attention of local shippers.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 4.—In a preliminary report to the Rhode Island
Medical society, Harry Lee Barnes, superintendent of the state sanatorium
at Wallum lake, declared that the 120 sufferers from pulmonary tuberculosis treated by Dr. Friedrich Franz Fried-mann last April with his turtle vaccine
"have shown none of the wonderful results reported by Dr. Friedmann and others of the Berlin Medical society."

"On the contrary," Dr. Friedmann added, "about 17 per cent. of the cases have shown an increased activity of the disease which would not have been expected under ordinary sanatorium treatment. The permanent good or harm done these patients can only be measured with accuracy from one to three years after the administration of the vaccine."

Dr. Barnes reported that one of the patients with joint tuberculosis had shown marked improvement.

PRISONER MISSING

John Kilbride Committed to Sing Sing
a Short Time Ago May Be a Sub-sile

OSSENING, N. Y., Sept. 4.—John Kilbride of Brooklyn, committed to Sing Sing prison a short time ago, is missing and Warden Clancy after a search lasting nearly all night is inclined to the opinion that he committed suicide.

"Kilbride was employed in the shipping department," the warden said today "and had frequent opportunities to drop into the Hudson river. He was rather silent and morose and always seemed downhearted. I do not see how he could swim away without being seen."

FORMER KING MANUEL MARRIED

Ex-King MANUEL
Princess AUGUSTINA
VICTORIA

Exiled Portugal Monarch Weds Princess Augustine Victoria— Cardinal Netto Officiated

SIGMARING, Germany, Sept. 4.— Manuel, former king of Portugal, was married here today to Princess Augustine Victoria, daughter of Prince William of Hohenzollern by Cardinal Netto, former archbishop patriarch of Lisbon, who conducted the religious ceremony and by Count August Eu-genberg, grand marshal of the Prussian court, who presided over the civil function.

The religious rites began at half past eleven in the Roman Catholic parish church near the palace. The road along which the bridal pair passed from the palace to the church was spanned with arches covered with flowers and along both sides were drawn up lines of soldiers and school children.

The little capital of the principality of Hohenzollern had made every effort to render itself attractive for the occasion although it was understood that the marriage was to be celebrated in as quiet a manner as possible, owing to the political situation.

A gate of honor was erected at the railroad station, where all the royal guests were met by military escorts, which accompanied them to the palace.

At the same time a strict watch was kept on all strangers arriving here because it was thought by the police that an attempt might be made on the life of the former king of Portugal. Nothing, however, in the form of a manifestation against the exiled monarch marred the occasion.

At the church the princesses and princes formed a brilliant group, the varied uniforms of the latter glistening with orders. They were surrounded by many prominent military and civil personages, also in gala costumes.

FINISH SULZER INQUIRY

Impeachment Managers
Open Headquarters

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The legislative Sulzer investigating committee expected to finish its work today, so far as public inquiry was concerned. The Sulzer impeachment trial is now but two weeks off and the committee will turn over its evidence and its task to the board of impeachment managers of the state assembly. For its session today the committee had subpoenaed several witnesses, most of whom were Governor Sulzer's supporters. The purpose was to question them regarding the fund raised to aid the campaign for Sulzer's direct primary bill.

The impeachment managers opened headquarters yesterday in an office building in Wall street. Today a staff of lawyers were at work on plans for the prosecution. The legal staff already includes Alton B. Parker, Edgar T. Brackett, Eugene Lamb Richards, who is attorney for the investigating committee, Isador Kresel and Hiram Gross, said that others of equal prominence might be added.

LOWELL NOBLES

With Their Ladies Will Attend Monster Outing at Wellesley on September 13th

The monster outing to be held by the Mystic Nobles of Granada of New England will be held at Spring Grove, Wellesley one week from next Saturday, Sept. 13th, the festivities opening at 2.30 o'clock. The outing is for members only and their lady friends and no expense will be spared to make it the most momentous event of its kind ever held in these parts.
Sports, dinner, entertainment and dancing will be the features. The members of Lowell caravan, are vitally interested in the affair and Grand Monarch Walter H. Hickey states that it is the intention to send a big delegation of nobles, with ladies from Lowell. The Lowell delegation will leave on the 12.15 train for Boston and will take the Worcester electric at Park square. Secretary J. Francis Connors, actary of the Lowell Trust Co., is in charge of the local arrangements in conjunction with Grand Monarch Hickey and members will notify the former of their intention to attend. Tomorrow evening the officers will confer on the plans thus far made. Arrangements are also being discussed for an initiation in October, probably in Mechanics Building in Boston.

Fess Surprises Council
BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Governor Foss surprised his council yesterday by not sending in his appointments. He has an excise commissioner, a member of the state house commission and several other places.

The friends of Colonel A. P. Langtry of Springfield were surprised at the failure of the governor to place him upon the commission to build the new state house.

Is This Why English Beauties Are So Fair?

(From London Herald)
Ever since the discovery that mer-curized wax should absorb and remove a soiled complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for toilet cream has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficent cleansing, clearing and proservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying as high as a guinea a jar for "special cream" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercurized wax out-ranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all chemist shops in the British Isles.
American druggists also have great demand for it in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using it is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

The saxolite lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered saxolite is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect in erasing wrinkles and improving contour.

THE GILBRIDE COMPANY

STARTS FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th

We do not want the buying public to measure our business by the wrong rule. We ask them to keep their convictions void of foretaken prejudices until they personally visit this sale this year. We are willing the Lockhart-Mill-End Sale should be judged from its own past history. If it has ever been unjust or unfair to you, condemn it, except an unavoidable error might have crept in, which we will cheerfully correct if you come to us about it at any time. It's unfair to compare us in any way with our many imitators. We are hungry for justice to our business and just as hungry to mete it out to our customers, for where a genuine temple of justice stands, we meet kind looks—kind words—kind acts, and warm handshakes of welcome from our fellow citizens in every section of this world's greatest nation, whom we have learned to love and respect. Without multiplying words about our increased facilities, from both foreign and American mills who supply the immense quantities of merchandise necessary for this great business, we feel we must remind you of the fact that the very foundation stone of this Mill-End structure is laid on the individual character and worth of the merchandise to be sold. Mill-End cost is our basis of price and that vividly portrays to the thoughtful minds the opportunity for all to save. We encourage close scrutiny, then you will realize it's one great fair, exhibiting the newest goods and latest fashions in the whole world, many of which are never seen in a retail store except in this sale. The variety is too extensive to present intelligently; may we not expect every reader to pay us the respect of a personal visit? Do not speculate on your duty, simply do it; the prices given plainly tell you why you should.

RESCUED MAN AT LAKEVIEW

Two Boys Saved Swimmer From Drowning—His Boat Had Been Drifted Away by the Wind

One young man of this city has very good reason to be grateful to Arthur McCarthy of 50 Varney street and Dan Murphy of 50 Arlington street, for in all probability he owes his life to their efforts.

Both young men with Harold and Frank McCarthy went to Lakeview yesterday afternoon intending to enjoy themselves by going swimming. They went to Mountain Rock for that purpose. On their way they found a flat bottomed boat stranded without oars, which they immediately approached and used in getting to their swimming place, utilizing some sticks which they found nearby, for oars. They had paddled but a short distance in this primitive fashion when they heard loud cries for assistance from the center of the lake where a young man was struggling in the water. A friend of the swimmer who was in such a dangerous position, was on shore, but being unable to swim could not go to his rescue, but asked his friends for help to those of his companions. MOTHERS' PENSION ACT KILLED BY HIS BROTHER

Many Claims Reach the City Hall From Rife

NECESSARY FORMS NOT YET RECEIVED

State Will Have Many Claims to Meet—Cities Responsible For Their Own

It was stated today at the office of the board of charities at city hall that eight or nine applications have been made for assistance under the Mothers' Pension act, which went into effect the first of this month. About all of these applicants have been receiving assistance as paupers but under the new law they are not paupers.

It is expected that many more applications will be made as a great many are now being assisted by the local charity department which will come under the new law. The amount to be paid to these cases will probably be greater than before but the exact increase cannot be determined until after an investigation of every case has been made.

"We have not received the necessary forms as yet," said Clerk Gallagher today, "and of course we cannot do business until we receive the forms. These forms will have to be filled out and the different cases investigated. The amounts to be paid will be determined by the number of persons to be assisted. To receive aid under the old law every case had to be investigated but under the Mothers' Pension act the cases will have to be investigated in greater detail."

"It is the purpose of the new law to enable the mothers to give their time to their homes and children, and it is contended that this will result in the raising of many future citizens."

"In cases where the persons to be aided have no settlement in this state the state will pay the full amount, while in cases where persons having settlements in other cities and who are being cared for in Lowell the state will pay one-third while the cities where the ones being cared for have settlements will pay the other two-thirds."

"The person who has a settlement in this city is being assisted in Lawrence, for instance, this city would pay Lawrence the full amount and the state would reimburse this city one-third. The state board of charities will have full supervision and we are waiting for the further instructions from the state board."

Strikers Vote to Accept Terms Offered

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The strike of employees of the Sturtevant blower works in Hyde Park, controlled by Gov. Foss, was ended last night by the acceptance by the strikers of terms offered them by the management of the works. No details of the agreement were made public.

It was announced that the strike at the Becker milling machine works also controlled by the governor, will continue. Employees of both plants have been out since June 1. They demanded an increase in wages and improved working conditions. About 1200 men and women struck at the Sturtevant works and two hundred at the Becker plant.

HEAVY PRESSURE AGAINST MARKET DURING EARLY TRADING

Speculation Approached a Deadlock—Lock of Moisture in Corn Belt Affected Market—Closed Heavy

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Pressure was again directed against the stock market in the opening trading today, although the small recovery late yesterday made the bears cautious and selling orders were distributed more with a view to testing the market than to bringing about a further material decline. Offerings were accepted at a shade below yesterday's close and declines were limited to a few cases. Reading and Union Pacific, in which selling was heaviest, fell about a point each. Canadian Pacific also moved off a point.

Speculation approached a deadlock today and although the predominating tendency during the morning was downward movements were variable and indecisive. Bears were less confident, fearing that the extent of the decline of the last few days and the large short interest now believed to be outstanding might lead to a sudden upturn. Operations on the long side were discouraged by the ease by which selling succeeded to the sporadic selling. Weather reports from the cotton crop regions told a continued lack of moisture in the corn belt, although some rain was reported in sections of the cotton and wheat acreage. Special pressure against Reading and Union Pacific undetermined efforts to rally the list and caused throwing over of holdings bought to support prices. After the first noon reaction the market recovered its lost ground and the market was attributed to the continued loss of cash by the banks, owing to the demand of the interior for crop moving purposes.

The market closed heavy. In the last trading issues, with prices holding fairly firm.

sel, T. K. Laflamme, left town suddenly. This gave basis for the rumors that a writ of prohibition would be sought.

The board, consisting of five members, assembled at 9.15 and immediately sent out for a Bible to swear witnesses.

"It may last half an hour, it may last a week," said Mr. Robertson, one of the members, as he went upstairs.

There was delay in getting the inquiry under way. Thaw becoming impatient stepped close to a window. He had on his straw hat and was smoking a pipe. Four Dominion police blocked the entrance of the stairway. A woman came with flowers for Thaw and was denied admittance.

The board went into session at 9.55, the public and press representatives not being admitted.

Thaw Tells of Trip

The first person examined was Thaw himself. He was questioned as to his entrance into Canada. Thaw said he got off the train at Rochester and that his objective point was Pittsburgh. He brought several tickets, he said, in view of the fact that his route was uncertain. He told of hiring two farmers to drive him hither after leaving the train. Thaw was sworn before he testified.

The board produced its credentials before formally going into session, showing that it had been authorized by the acting minister of the interior, C. J. Doherty, to deal summarily with the case.

The foregoing information was obtained from W. L. Shurtleff, one of the Thaw lawyers who came downstairs a moment during a lull in the proceedings.

The examination was conducted by Robertson. In more detail Thaw explained how he had bought a ticket to Beecher Falls, Vt., the last station on the Maine Central. Learning there that the train would not go, he began the overland trip by bicycle, which ended with his arrest at Barford.

Frightened by Thaw

H. Johnston, a farmer who drove Thaw across the line followed Thaw on the stand. He said they drove toward the border in the direction of Packardville. A hundred feet from the line they turned back, he said, and made their way toward Canaan, Vt.

THAW SLEPT WELL LAST NIGHT AND WAS UP AT 7 O'CLOCK TODAY

COATCOOK, Que. Sept. 4.—Harry K. Thaw slept well last night notwithstanding reports of a nervous collapse and was up before 7 o'clock this morning ready to appear before a special board of inquiry authorized under the Dominion's drastic immigration law to order him deported should it find him insane or an inmate of a lunatic asylum.

Thaw was seen by a reporter as he crossed the border by stealth.

Thaw Under Guard

The scene of the secret hearing was a tiny office just off the immigration detention room where Thaw spent the night under guard. E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration, was to be presiding officer, assisted by Inspectors Reynolds, Williams and Garneau. Two physicians, Drs. Guerd and Beauchamp were on hand to examine the prisoner and Dr. Guerd, who was in charge of the Statesman asylum for the criminal insane from which Thaw escaped more than two weeks ago was held in readiness to testify as to Thaw's commitment and confinement there as the insane slayer of Stanford White.

It was only five miles from here at Barford that Thaw was first arrested after his entrance in Canada. His capture, prompted by Sheriff Kileas of Coatcook, N. H., was John Bodreau, Coatcook chief of police, the man whose application for a writ of habeas corpus cast Thaw out of jail and into the hands of immigration officers at Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon.

Lawyers in Conference

Thaw's lawyers, somewhat demoralized after yesterday's rapid developments, spent the night in conference. They were pessimistic and gave it as their opinion that an attempt was being made to railroad their client across the line. In the unexplained absence of J. N. Greenfield of Montreal, recognized as chief counsel, N. K. Laflamme had assumed the head of Thaw's forces.

Thaw was indignant this morning when he learned that reports of his breaking down under the strain had been circulated. Although no reporters were allowed to see him he sent

FELL THROUGH BRIDGE

Autoists Killed—Drawbridge Was Open

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Sept. 4.—Lucy Beach, 29, and Lawrence Blakeman, 19, collapsed, rode to their deaths in an automobile through an open drawbridge here late last night. The bodies were taken from the water today. Coroner Wise has started an investigation based on rumors that proper danger signals were not displayed at the approach to the bridge.

Under cross-examination by Lawyer Donahue for the defense, the witness gave a very honest, straightforward account of his actions the night he and the day of the murder. He admitted that he had been drinking and told the various bars and hotels where he had bought ten beers and three gin fizzes. Mr. Donahue made several witty sallies at the expense of the beer and gin-fizz imbiber.

Packard testified that McCall found him sitting on the curbstone in Market street. He said that McCall asked him into a hotel and told the clerk that he would make good for the room. Before he went into the room witness counted his money and found he had $117.

Made Hits on Muster

Packard, under sharp questioning, said that he had lost the difference between his original buckroll and his $117 betting on the muster.

The witness asserted that he tried to turn McCall out of his room and that he had to ask him several times to go before he finally left the room. After McCall left the apartment, Packard greeted his money under his pillow and bed clothes and again told himself when he awoke shortly after midnight McCall was at his bedside. The latter was again asked to leave the room and after he had gone the complainant discovered that part of his money had disappeared from its hiding place. Under cross-examination witness said that his door was unlocked.

Seraps, McCleughrey and Peirce, the two officers who made the arrest, testified that the defendant admitted his guilt to them at the time of his arrest. McCall, himself, was the only witness for the defense. He denied that he had sold anything about taking the money and said that he was taking the defendant guilty and ordered him committed to the house of correction for six months. He appealed.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED

Charged With Breaking a Window

Frederic Boucher, aged 15, and Valmore Tremblay, aged 17 years, were arrested last night by Officers O'Neill and Conside while attempting to break into the pool room of George Lamoit at 409 Merrimack street.

Officers O'Neill was walking down Merrimack street last night about 12 o'clock when he saw the two young fellows hanging around the pool room. The officer, who was on the early morning shift was on his way to the station dressed in plain clothes, and was not recognized as an officer by the boys. Both youngsters climbed the fence that separates the alley alongside of the pool room from the school yard and vaulted into the alley.

The officer followed the boys and as Officer Conside appeared on the scene both entered the yard and had little trouble in putting the young fellows under arrest. Upon investigation it was learned that one window had been broken and another had been damaged in an attempt to open it. One of the boys carried a screw driver and the other was equipped with an iron spike and a crow bar.

The case of the boys was brought up in police court this morning and they were held in $500 bonds.

172 DOZEN EGGS GONE

Lynn Man Charged With Larceny

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Charged with the larceny of 172 dozen eggs, valued at $28, Edward J. Moran, Jr., aged 28, of Lynn, was arrested today. Moran is suspected, the police say, of being concerned in a wholesale scheme to steal eggs and poultry from unsuspecting farmers throughout New England.

For months complaints have been received from farmers that they have been sending shipments of eggs, and live and dressed poultry to concerns in this city which promptly remitted. In no case was the money forthcoming nor was the receipts of the goods acknowledged.

Finally Ralph H. Cunningham of Belfast, Me., sent a letter to Supr. of Police William Pierce and the arrest of Moran resulted.

BOY'S HEART MOVING

Was Run Over by Cart

OF BODY

Performed Normal Functions There—
Now Going Back to Its Former Place
—Doctors Amazed

BROCKTON, Sept. 4.—The heart of Henry Dickerman that for the past several weeks has performed its normal functions while occupying an abode in the right side of his chest has begun to move slowly back to the left side, from which it was pushed when the 14-year-old boy was run over by an ash cart on July 1.

When about to be sent forth from the City hospital here yesterday, with the assurance that he was well and able to be about with the other boys of his age, the physicians learned that his heart was changing its position in the right side of his breast and moving slowly to its former place in the left side of the chest.

Having become set in their opinion that the heart had definitely and permanently established itself in the right side, and firmly convinced that it would there continue to perform all its normal functions of service to the body, the physicians were amazed to learn that their calculations were astray and that they would have to begin all over again.

Instead of discharging the boy, the doctors ordered that he be detained at the hospital. He is likely to remain there indefinitely, it is said. During the past few weeks young Dickerman had been playing about the hospital with such youthful spirit and vigor that the doctors thought it well to discharge him. Though his heart was displaced, the physicians thought no harm would come of his release from hospital care and vigilance.

A final examination was made of Dickerman. It was at once discovered that the heart had moved within the past 24 hours to the centre of the chest. The boy had made no complaint or suffering any pain. Indeed, he had noticed that a wonderful change was transpiring with his life's most vital function. Whether the heart will seek out its former position in the left chest and there settle permanently is a question none can answer.

The doctors are amazed at the new turn in the condition of their remarkable case. They will continue their study and observation of the wonderful locomotion of the heart, fearful that fatal consequences may result.

REPUBS. WITH DEMMIES

No Trust Bogy in the
Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—One of the difficulties which threatened the peaceful passage of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill dissolved into thin air yesterday when the senate majority swung solidly into line to defeat an amendment designed to regulate trusts.

By a vote of 55 to 12 the senate rejected a proposal by Senator Kenyon to put aluminum upon the free list. Senator Kenyon and those who joined him in supporting the amendment declared the manufacture of aluminum in the United States was in control of a monopoly, the Aluminum Company of America.

The vote was accepted as a prelude to action upon another amendment proposing to restrict the manufacture of all combinations declared by the courts to be monopolies.

Chairman Simmons of the finance committee announced that it was not the purpose of the majority party to legislate on the trust question at present. He said congress had spent the summer on the tariff and would spend the fall on currency, and promised that when these matters were disposed of trust legislation would be taken up. He prophesied winter would find the legislators still in session.

Senator Simmons spoke after a conference with President Wilson, and it was said "insurgent" democrats had been told President Wilson did not think it was the time for good democrats to go to the aid of the progressive republicans.

The regular republicans voted with the democrats against the amendment. Those who supported it were Brady, Bristow, Catron, Clapp, Crawford, Jones, La Follette, Norris, Polindexter, Sterling and Weeks.

Most of the senate's time yesterday was spent on the aluminum schedule, but it was able to pass many paragraphs previously laid aside. The paragraph forbidding the importation of bird plumage except for scientific or educational purposes—desired by the Audubon society—which was debated fiercely in caucus last night, was agreed to without dissent.

Senators Lodge and Root argued against the proposed 25 per cent duty on works of art in the bill, and Senator Thomas spoke in favor of it. The republicans were beaten on the vote.

Senator La Follette introduced his amendment to the cotton schedule. It proposes changes in practically every paragraph, to make many rates higher and others lower than those proposed in the bill.

LOWELL ATHLETIC CLUB

Soon to Reopen—Joe Thomas in New York Securing Talent—Knockout Sweeney Coming

The Lowell Athletic club will soon reopen its doors and intends putting on nothing but high class entertainments for its members. Last year the club put on some of the best entertainments staged in New England. Joe Thomas, who is connected with the club, has gone to New York to secure the best talent available. If possible the management will endeavor to secure Knockout Sweeney, New York's latest lightweight sensation. Sweeney has beaten such well-known performers as Johnny Love, Johnny Mario, Young Sugbrue and Joe Egan, who is well known here. Jimmy Gardiner will devote all his time to the club this winter and, together with Joe Thomas, who has also retired from the ring, will secure the best men possible. The club is indeed fortunate in having two such well-known boxers as Joe and Jimmy Gardiner connected with it as they certainly know the ins and outs of the game and are well known to most every boxer.

Whatever one may think of the wisdom or otherwise of Senator Cummins' proposed tax of ten per cent on all trades where the seller is not in possession of the property sold, all rational and right-minded people will rejoice to see the matter thus officially brought to the attention of the country. So-called "short selling" whether on the New York stock exchange or on cotton produce is one of the worst forms of pernicious speculation in existence.

Senator Cummins made a picturesque and unexaggerated comparison when he declared that the Louisiana lottery was a "pink tea" beside the modern stock exchange, especially in relation to the selling of commodities which the sellers never really owned. There are many preposterous schemes of ready speculation based on the ruin or loss of some luckless dupes, but there is nothing which in principle or effect is more injurious than selling short. All speculation is not essentially vicious; to a certain degree it enters into all buying and selling. It is only when a buyer or seller makes a trade in which one of the mediums exchanged is represented merely by paper that speculation is morally illegal. It is very questionable, however, whether taxing such a form of speculation would be any more legal than the business it would penalize. It certainly would not make it less injurious.

Putting aside the question of the possible advisability or unadvisability of the tax proposed by Senator Cummins temporarily, it is interesting to speculate in thought on the proper way to regulate speculation in fact. Many states have adopted "blue sky" laws that aim at reforming speculative practices that are slight indeed compared with short sales of cotton or any other natural product. These laws are all very good in their way, but while an attractively arranged lying circular can induce a serious minded individual to invest money in enterprises of which he can have no positive knowledge, not all the blue sky laws in the world will save him from the designs of "pirates of commerce." The public must be educated to look into the status of speculators and the reliability of their commodity or proposition before we can see an end of the class of whom, according to Barnum, one is born every minute.

The chief objection to the tax proposed by Senator Cummins is, that it is more a penalty than a tax. The penalty may be deserved, but the infliction of it is technically and constitutionally without the sphere of congress. Possibly the effect would be beneficial, but even so, any good purchased at the price of an abandoned constitutional safeguard is a doubtful good. Short selling is a financial abuse but it can be satisfactorily curtailed or eliminated by state laws whether already in existence or called into being by the exigencies of the situation. Senator Cummins had the right idea but his plan of reforming the fault in principle. Out of it, however, with its resultant discussion and the public realization of the great financial evil of this form of speculation, good must eventually come.

OUR MILLS EXPLOITED

It is too bad, considering its ultimate effect, that the recent speech of Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire in the senate in answer to that of his colleague, Senator Hollis, contained so many portents of the disaster that no one believes is imminent. His dismal partisan forebodings spoiled what would have otherwise been a real masterly and, which is still rarer, sensible speech. But putting aside sectional considerations most of the people of New England will agree with him when he holds that the mills of Lawrence, Manchester, Lowell and many other cities of this region have been too long and too falsely exploited for political capital.

If the recent strikes in the textile industries of New England have had any positive good, it is in calling the attention of the public to the true conditions that exist in the mills. Formerly to those who worked in other spheres, they were mysteries as dark as the interior of Abyssinia. We walked by their walls; we heard the noise of looms and spindles; we saw the teeming thousands enter their portals in the early morning and return in the evening. Thus they became a symbol of all that is terrible and pitiable in the lives of the poor. We condemned the rapacity of the rich and some of us, particularly the politicians, shed crocodile tears around election time, filled with awe at the awful conditions of the mill toiler.

Now, however, things have changed. The recent strikes showed the toiler to us as he is. He is no martyr to be pitied, but a brave fellow working in the mill as much from choice as necessity and thinking himself pretty fortunate. Our "Mary Konovaly" and her sisters may not get as much money as we would like to give them, but they are getting more than they would get elsewhere and they are getting for more and are far more happy than the average shop girl who is more elevated in the social scale. It is about time that we ceased to take our impressions of New England mills from revolutionary leaders and platitudinous politicians. The New England mills are not perfect in their relations with their employees but neither are our railroads, our telephone companies, our stores. These mills, however, are gradually and surely improving the conditions of their workers, and it is to our best interest to give them the rapid support necessary for their prosperity instead of subjecting them to constant adverse criticism which after all is merely a repetition of old and largely unsubstantiated accusations. Senator Hollis played an old role when he assumed the championship of the New England textile worker, but the part had better be relegated to the store room of discarded melodramas.

GAIN IN AVIATION

Aside from its spectacular aspects, the news that a French aviator flew almost a quarter of a mile head down, and then succeeded in turning a complete somersault, will be received universally as a distinct gain in aviation. But it is questionable if it is an index of a greater conquest of the air or greater safety for him who would conquer it. It is merely an individual instance of dare-devilry which if persisted in will result in the death of its instigator. The announcement that he will continue his dangerous experiment will be effective undoubtedly in gathering morbid crowds to see him, but it will add little to the real advance of the science.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO

A very real reason for part of the present misunderstanding with Mexico comes from the fact that American citizens have repeatedly got into trouble there and invoked the aid of their government in getting them out of it. Theoretically, of course, they are entitled to all the protection which this government can afford, but it is much to be regretted that their petty troubles should endanger the peace of an entire nation—two nations would be more appropriate were it not that Mexico is never at peace.

Many Americans in Mexico or any other country are adventurers whose patriotism is secondary to their selfish interests, but who readily discover the advantage of being Americans when there is trouble brewing. It is one thing to turn your back on a country to seek financial gain elsewhere and another to invoke the aid of the homeland when your person or property is in danger. The recent advice of the administration to Americans to quit the southern republic until peace returns ought to convince those who contemplate settling in other countries that they ought to be prepared to accept the hazards of their undertaking.

POOR TRAIN SERVICE

The experience of a Lowell citizen who was compelled to wait for a train in Boston for an hour and a quarter last Tuesday evening, as related in Wednesday's Sun, suggests a reform that is as feasible as it is necessary. If for any reason a train is delayed in getting to a railroad station, the railroad responsible should acquaint its patrons of the probable extent of the delay and any other details to which they are rightfully entitled. One who has at any time been compelled to stand at a depot waiting for a train whose delay is not posted can very readily sympathize with the very real indignation felt by the large number of people from this city who were treated so shabbily by the Boston and Maine railroad officials last Tuesday. If the railroads were sensible of the rights of the public in apparently little things, they would not be subjected to so much of the violent criticism which has brought the New England transportation companies to the verge of ruin in recent years.

Lowell Will Have to Pay the Freight—Free Canal Tolls Discussed—Examinations to be Held

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—While acting with the best of intentions, Representative John Jacob Rogers yesterday feared he might be suspected of playing a practical joke on the city of Lowell, his home, in offering to it a mortar from the navy department, through the courtesy of Secretary Daniels.

As the mortar weighs about nine tons and the city will be obliged to foot the bill for its transportation from Portsmouth, N. H., the taxpayers possibly may object. The mortar, however, is regarded as a valuable relic, in that it is the last of its kind in existence, and Mr. Rogers believes it would be a fine acquisition for a city park.

TWO HURT IN COLLISION

Accident on State Road at Wilmington

Two were injured in an automobile collision last night on the state road at Wilmington. The machine was a large auto truck and collided with a telegraph pole in the side of the road near the Silver River. The auto is the property of the Peabody Automobile Co. and the occupants were Mr. Robble, sales manager of the company, and his son. Both men were cut and bruised, and severely injured about the legs. The accident is said to have been caused by defective steering gear. While the car was proceeding at a rate of less than 25 miles an hour, it skidded to one side of the road, for some reason the driver could not explain. The injured men were taken to the State infirmary in Tewksbury, where they received treatment. One of the cuts on Mr. Robble's leg required several stitches. They left for their homes in Peabody later in the night.

KNIFE WOUNDS FATAL

Old Feud Leads to Murder—Another Dying

HAYBURN, Sept. 4.—Nicholas

Coppola, aged 23, died at the state hospital last night from two stab wounds in his back, and Gaetano Agreste, 45, is dying from two bullet wounds in his breast, as the result of a street shooting and stabbing affair that took place in the heart of the Italian colony here last night at 10:45 o'clock.

It was on Autumn place, in the Italian section, that Coppola and Agreste met. At the sight of the latter, Coppola drew a revolver and shot him twice in the breast. As Agreste was falling, a companion, who is still at large, stole up behind Coppola and stabbed him several times in the back. The unknown assailant of Coppola ran away, and no indication of his whereabouts is known to the police. Coppola died soon after reaching the hospital. Agreste is not expected to live. The tragic affair was due, it is said, to an old country feud between the principals, in which many of the residents of the Italian colony here are said to share.

The young woman has been confined in a cell at the Lynn police station since Sunday. The police menu is not very inviting, consisting principally of pilot crackers and coffee, but kind-hearted guardians of the law purchased more delectable food for Mrs. Coughlin, who steadfastly refused to take any nourishment.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

order to push the work another crusher was put in operation this morning on the old Lawrence road near what is known as the nickel mine. The rocks are constantly being crushed and as quick as the crusher can supply the stone it is being hauled on the road and laid as a top dressing. Then a sprinkler spreads the oil and a powdered gravel is laid as a last coating, the steam roller doing the rest of the work.

There are two rollers on the job, one near the city line and the other near Merrimack street. One rolls the oiled surface while the other is being used for crushing down the gravel. The road, when completed, it is said, will be one of the finest in the state, for it will afford a clear way from the New Hampshire line to the sea. The oil plant, of the rollers, where the oil and tar are boiled, is situated on a hill in Kenwood, and several men are employed there.

A large piece of work on the construction of this state road is the building of a cement bridge across the brook at Brookside, near McManmon's agency, but this is progressing rapidly. The wooden trestle, now being constructed, and already the foundations have been poured. This will be completed in about two weeks, and next week the tracks of the Bay State Street Railway Co. will be removed on the river side of the bridge. However, pending the completion of the bridge vehicles may use the car tracks over the said bridge. The residents of that portion of Dracut are longing for the completion of the road, for it is a hard task for them to drive around the old road, and it is almost impossible for them to get to their places of business. They are, therefore, after tonight, all those living on the Lowell side of Varnum's landing may use the road.

Poor Fire Protection.
Some of the residents of Dracut are protesting against the fire protection they are having, especially those living in Collinsville and along the Merrimack river. They say on account of the poor fire protection they have to pay a much higher insurance rate than they should. Their property is constantly in danger of being entirely wiped out by fire. One man in conversation with the writer this morning said a good example of what protection these districts are getting was given a few days ago, when the home of Jeremiah Mahoney in Collinsville was entirely gutted by fire before the department reached the scene of the conflagration.

"In Navy Yard and Dracut Centre," said this party, "the real estate owners are thoroughly protected in case of fire. There is a fire station at the center and another in Navy Yard, and in both places there is a good water pressure, while in Collinsville or around Belle Grove, there is plenty of water, but no power. I believe with the high tax rate now in Dracut, the taxpayers ought to be better protected."

The conflagration at Mahoney's has been the cause of considerable comment around the village, and now is the time to remedy the situation by organizing a good fire department, and supplying it with apparatus that can prove of some utility. For instance many recommend the purchase of a combination steamer and hose motor drawn, an apparatus which in less than a few minutes could be taken to any part of the town.

"At Belle Grove there is plenty of water, but not the least power to make use of it. If a fire were to break out in that vicinity the entire district would be gutted before the present department would reach the premises, while lives are also endangered."

One party said if the town cannot afford the purchase of motor fire apparatus, some arrangements ought to be made with the Lowell fire department so that in case of a big fire in the town help of some sort would be supplied. "When the Lowell department was composed of horse-drawn vehicles only," continued this party, "the department would come to Dracut when needed, but now it only goes as far as the city line. In those days, too, if the Lowell department rendered the town any service, a certain sum of money was always voted for the department by the town. It is now up to the selectmen to either supply the town with a competent fire department, or make some arrangements with the Lowell department, for we want to be protected in case of fire."

Camp Season.
The camp season along the banks of the Merrimack river is practically coming to a close, and already several families have vacated their summer homes. However, there is still a large number of summer residents in the town and some will remain until the latter part of this month. Several of the workmen on the state road are occupying the camps and they will remain until the work is finished.

To High School.
The following youngsters from Kenwood will enter the Lowell high school at the opening of the fall term. They are all graduates from the Kenwood school. Alice McManmon, Addie White, Beatrice Gore, Ruth Dickey, Romeo Jubinville, Laura Tibbets, Venia Tibbets, Alenworth Isherwood, Florence Delaney.

Jack of All Trades.
Constable Foye of Dracut has been awarded the Jack of all trades of the vicinity, for outside of being a farmer, a pork raiser, and a peace maker, the genial policeman of the neighboring town, has gone into the ice business, and he is making a hit at his new line of work.

The ice supply at Belle Grove gave out in the early part of August, and a petition was sent to the Daniel Gage Co. to have a wagon go around the district twice a week, but on account of the long distance, as all vehicles were forced to go by the old Lawrence road, the petition was ignored. However, Constable Foye, who has great love for his neighbors, made up his mind to relieve the condition by becoming an ice man, and his idea was well received by the many residents of the district. So for the past two months the Dracut constable has been delivering ice to his neighbors twice a week, and he is the most welcomed man in the vicinity. It was hinted this morning that the brave and kind police officer will be remembered by his neighbors before the season is over, and it is probable they will present him a pair of silver tongs, and also a gold revolver, but this is not official.

Road Commissioners.
The road commissioners of the town were petitioned some time ago for the acceptance of what is known as Varnum avenue, in Dracut, but after taking a trip at the avenue, they came to the conclusion that the lane was not in a condition to be accepted by the town, inasmuch as it is private land, so the matter will be brought before the voters at the coming town meeting.

Fair Crop.
The crop all over Dracut is reported as being fair this year, of about the same as last year. The apples are coming slowly, but the fruit is in abundance, especially the apples of the early season. However, the dry weather, the farmers are not complaining too much, for it could have been worse.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House.
With increasing patronage daily, the motion picture shows at the popular Opera House proceed merrily on their way. Today offers the last opportunity to see that great Pathé drama, "The Turning Point," and following the customary rule, tomorrow witnesses an entire change of bill. The big feature for the last of the week will be Cines great drama, "The House of Mystery." Words are inadequate to portray this marvelous work of photography. During the course of action the audience is carried to the ether and becomes a neighbor of all the great planets. From this lofty planet one becomes thrown into the deepest, cavernous, bottomless pits. This truly wonderful picture must be seen to be appreciated. The charming sentimental songs underlined for this same period, rendered by our well known soloist, Bernard Horan, are noteworthy, consisting of "When Apple Blossoms Time the orchard," and "As Long as the Shamrock Grows Green."

As has been pointed out repeatedly of most gratifying import to the management, the large attendance embracing Lowell's most representative people.

Merrimack Square.
In Augustus Thomas' "Arizona," which is the current attraction being presented this week by The Players at the Merrimack square theatre, he brings out his really wonderful personal character of all stock raising. The piece and in the choice manner and mannerisms of his characters. The play offers unusual opportunities to the members of the company to display the artistic skill which appeals so strongly to all and not since stock has been produced locally has the theatre-going public of the city been favored with such high grade attractions as the Merrimack square theatre has presented. For the coming week David Belasco's greatest success, "The Woman," which was presented at the Park theatre, Boston, last season at 45 cents and 75 cents by the way is the first time it has ever been produced in Lowell or at the prices charged at the Merrimack, will be the attraction. This is perhaps the best of all stock raising plays, and of the strongest plays of its kind ever written, and with each and every member of the company adequately placed to prove one of the greatest successes of the season. The Players have so far been seen.

Lakeview Park.
Not only should the audiences at the Lakeview theatre see record breaking proportions, next week when John C. Bowker, P. R. G. S. lectures, but he should appeal especially to those who are students. Possessed of wonderful powers of observation, and a quick mind, a ready wit and ability to get at the root of things, he makes the ideal platform speaker. His addresses will be illustrated with beautiful hand colored photographs. Wherever Dr. Bowker goes he selects his subjects, and snaps them. He is his own special photographer. His evening lectures will be on the celebrated "Fossil Plant" at the Merrimack square theatre, and on the Merrimack square theatre, which is given but once in every decade by the devout peasants of the little Bavarian town. Afterwards he will appear on the stage, and will tell something of Gen. Felix Diaz, who will, at the coming elections, contend for the position of president. The charge for admission to these lectures is 15 and 25 cents, with children admitted for ten cents.

Keith's Theatre.
Leon, the mystifier, at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, carries an entire card of specialties, and a constructed staff, with which to do his act. His famous "Fire and Water" scene will make audiences take a lot of notice and have a lot of wonder. Tom Nawn, the comedian, and his company drive care away with "The College Coach," while the Great Howard, the Scotch ventriloquist, may be depended upon to give good and entertaining acts. Acts are: Merritt and Douglas, talking duo; Will and Gertrude Mack, singers and dancers; Kilda Glyder, singing comedian; and Revolving Collins, skater. The Pathé weekly is a hit also. Seats for all performances at the box office, phone number 28.

The Casino.
Dancing is always popular at the Casino, where one finds ideal conditions prevailing for wholesome pleasures. "Kagino Standard" means precisely today what it meant when the place was opened over a year ago. Absolute decorum from patrons and every courtesy from attendants. That is what "Kagino Standard" means.

HOLYOKE, Sept. 4.—The National convention of the Franco-American Foresters closed here yesterday afternoon.

The following officers, elected yesterday, were installed with a public ceremony at the city hall this evening: J. H. Guillet of Lowell, supreme chief; Dr. A. H. Quessy of Pittsburgh, supreme adjutant; M. Desrosiers of Woonsocket, supreme treasurer; William J. Mathieu of Woonsocket, financial secretary; Joseph Rousseau of Nashua, N. H., first supreme warden; Dr. J. P. Bouvier of Whitinsville, supreme secretary; Joseph Beytray of Leominster, first supreme guard; C. J. Tenoff of Biddeford, Me., second supreme guard; Edouard Telraut of Plainfield, Conn., and supreme sentinel; F. X. Rivet of Lowell, second supreme sentinel; A. J. E. Carlier of Fall River, second supreme warden; A. P. Barre of Holyoke, first supreme secretary; H. Robert of Manchester, N. H., supreme dean; A. Choury of Gardner, ex-supreme chief.

The previous day Supreme Chief Guillet read his report, showing the order to be in a flourishing condition both financially and in the point of numbers. Since the last convention in New Bedford in 1911, 15 courts have been organized, bringing the total number up to 75 at the present time. A number of committees were appointed to submit reports at the afternoon session.

Numerous telegrams were received from various French societies, expressing good wishes, and these were read. Much pleasure was caused by a telegram received from the Canada-

American association now in session in Manchester, N. H. The local convention immediately forwarded a telegram expressing its good will and wishes for the success and prosperity of the work being done by the Franco-American association.

The most important business transacted at the afternoon session was the change in the bylaws by which it was decided to admit members from the age of 16 years up, instead of 18 as formerly. The reports of minor committees were received and resolutions were passed. The evening session was devoted to the consideration of several amendments to the constitution.

Atty. Adalard Archambault of Woonsocket, R. I., was present at the afternoon session and delivered a short address. Atty. Archambault is a member of Court Lafontaine of Woonsocket, the first court organized. A letter was received from Rev. P. L. Lamotte of Lowell spiritual director, expressing his regrets at not being able to be present, because of illness.

Continued

ance of the railroad employees.

Lawyers Barred

"I have been given permission by the coroner to attend the inquest," he said. "I do not see anything improper about it. My sole purpose in appearing here is to be of assistance to the coroner in bringing witnesses here as they are wanted. I may not attend, however."

Mr. Duckland then sought the coroner, after which he announced he would not attend the inquest. He then returned to the New Haven offices and a minor official took his place outside the door of the courtroom.

The coroner issued orders to the police not to allow any of the witnesses to be approached by newspapermen within the building. The first witness called, William F. Clarkson, a resident of New Haven, who was early on the scene of the disaster, frankly told what he had testified to upon leaving the building. He said he was on a local train which reached the scene of the wreck within four or five minutes, he thought, after it had occurred.

Questioned About Signals

The coroner questioned me particularly about the signals," said Clarkson, "and the position of the train. I told him that the rear of the Bar Harbor express was within one hundred feet of the 'back' signal. This signal I did not notice until nearly an hour after I arrived, as I was engaged in rescue work but at that time it was set at red. I described the position of the wreckage. He asked me about the cars and I told him that the wood of which the Pullmans was constructed appeared to be broken up and a woman's body on top of one of the vestibules and climbed up there to get it down. The wooden roof caved in with my weight, dropping me with the woman's body six feet into the wreckage.

For Wax Thick

"I testified further that the fog was so thick that it was impossible to see more than 100 feet.

The coroner wanted to know whether I had heard the train crew say anything to show the wreck occurred. I could tell him nothing except that I had heard some one say that the brakes of the Bar Harbor train did not work well and that this had caused it to come to a stop just beyond the block."

Clarkson showed a gouged face the night he said of his fall through the top of the vestibule.

Shortly before the inquest began Coroner Mix announced that if it was decided to hold Engineer Miller and Flagman Murray of the Bar Harbor, both of whom have been in jail since Tuesday night he would accept bonds for their release.

FORMAL INQUEST INTO WASHINGTON WRECK BEGAN BEHIND CLOSED DOORS TODAY

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 4.—The formal inquest into the wreck Tuesday morning of the Bar Harbor express which cost the lives of 21 passengers began behind closed doors this morning in the offices of Coroner Eli Mix. The facts adduced will be turned over to the state's attorney, Aaron A. Alling as a basis for criminal prosecution should they warrant such action.

That premature publication of these facts might prejudice the state's and the interest of justice was the reason given by the coroner this morning for holding the inquest in secret. He reiterated that such procedure had been his practice in criminal cases during his 15 years' tenure of office and that the law upheld him.

Coroner Replies to Critics

"I feel that I am doing my duty," he said, "despite the criticism to which I have been subjected."

H. W. Belknap, chief inspector of the interstate commerce commission, which will begin a public inquiry here into the causes of the wreck tomorrow and C. C. Edwell, chief engineer of the Connecticut public utilities commission were the only persons other than the witnesses and the state's attorney and necessary assistants present when the coroner's inquest began.

Important Witnesses Heard

A. B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express, which crashed into the Bar Harbor train, and Flagman Murray of the doomed express, the most important witnesses, were among the first called. Both had been locked up since Tuesday night without bail, chiefly for the reason, it is said, that the coroner wished to make certain that neither talked about the case for publication until after testifying. The coroner is understood to have been ready to accept bail for them as soon as they had told their stories.

Ship Bodies to Homes

The condition of five of the injured who were last night hovering between life and death was described by the hospital surgeons this morning as still critical. All but two of the bodies of those killed have been shipped to their homes.

Commissioner McChord of the interstate commerce commission, who will preside at the investigation instituted by that body, is expected to reach here tonight. Inspector Belknap and his corps of four assistants planned to continue today their examination of the data furnished them by the railroad showing the operations of trains on the morning of the catastrophe.

After Coroner Mix had made ready to begin his hearing he found accommodations in his office so cramped that he decided to go to the superior court. The witnesses went over there and had plenty of room in the offices connected with the court room of the criminal side of the superior court.

Counsel Not Admitted

E. C. Terry, an attorney and former railroad man who served the railroad organizations as legislative agent at the capitol during two sessions of the general assembly, was engaged by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to look after the interests of Engineer Miller. Mr. Terry said he would endeavor to have Engineer Miller represented by counsel during the coroner's inquest. He did not state what process he would resort to. Many times in the past lawyers who have represented persons whose criminal acts have been under scrutiny by the coroner have tried to get into an inquest, but none succeeded.

Coroner Mix was asked just before he opened his probate if he would permit counsel for Engineer Miller to attend and he replied:

"Counsel will not be admitted."

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND

At Session of Trades Union Congress

MANCHESTER, England, Sept. 4.—Delegates representing the United States and Canada took a prominent part at today's session of the trades union congress. The foreign delegates today were given their first opportunity of addressing the assembly and the American delegates were the first called to the platform. Louis Kemper of Cincinnati urged the importance of fewer trades unions and more unionists. He deplored the fact that the United States was not so lucky as to possess a separate labor party but trades unionists there, he said, did the next best thing, by obtaining pledges from candidates at the elections for congress.

The question of Boston, referring to the Dublin strike troubles, declared that if similar circumstances had arisen in the United States the American Federation of Labor would have hastened to act as the trades union congress had acted in demanding protection for the right of free speech. He added: "We stand for law and order and will always fight for the right of legitimate free speech."

There were liberals and conservatives in the United States as there were in England, Mr. Baines said, but he added amid mingled cheers and laughter that "the conservative member is as a rule more valuable to the labor movement."

The question of establishing a political labor party for endorsing any political group, would, he concluded, not be taken into serious consideration in the immediate future by the American Federation of Labor.

P. M. Draper, a Canadian delegate, was cheered when he declared that he had urged for the establishment of an international labor bureau to regulate the tide of emigrants and to instruct them as to the conditions of affairs in the countries to which they proposed going.
